Gen. MacArthur's Troops Repel Latest Japanese Attack With Heavy Losses

U. S. BOMBERS SINK ANOTHER TRANSPORT

Attack In Macassar Has Now Resulted In Jap Loss Of 31 Vessels

By JOSEPH A. BORS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—New successes for American forces in the Far East were reported today by the war department in an announcement that General MacArthur's troops have inflicted heavy losses on the Japanese in a new enemy attack on the Bataan peninsula, while American bombers were destroying another enemy transport in the Macassar Strait.

The department's communique said that Gen. MacArthur's valiant American-Philippine forces had repelled the latest Japanese offensive.

The action on Bataan peninsula was the first large scale engagement reported since MacArthur's fighting troops had staged a successful counter-attack last Sunday. Sharp shooting artillery men were given credit for breaking up the new Jap drive with heavy enemy losses.

Jap Losses 31 Ships

The attack in Macassar was the third successful raid by heavy American bombers on the gigantic Nipponese convoy which has been steadily whittled down by naval and air units of the united nations. Japanese losses in that area to date are now 31 war ships and transports.

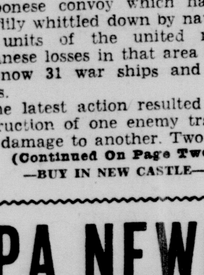

The latest action resulted in the destruction of one enemy transport and damage to another. Two enemy

Pedestrians deaths increased tremendously during the past year in Lawrence County, accounting largely for the increase in the number of traffic fatalities for the year as reported by the Bureau of Highway Safety of the Department fo Revenue fo Pennsylvania. Of the 28 persons who met their deaths in traffic accidents, 20 were pedestrians. This would indicate a greater degree of carelessness on the part of pedestrians.

New Castle Army Nurse Commands Ireland Force

America's first armed expeditionary force of World War II numbers Miss Agnes Jeanette Keane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Keane, of 813 East Washington street, an officer in the Army Nurse Corps who has been serving at Fort Knox, Ky., since August, 1940.

Definite news that Miss Keane had reached Ireland with the first contingent of Yanks and nurses reached New Castle late Wednesday.

Earlier yesterday rumor had it that the local nurse was in the Ireland party, but neither the Army or her parents here could definitely say.

German U-Boat Sunk By Dutch

BULLETIN
(International News Service)

BATAVIA, Jan. 29.—The N. E. I. high command today announced sinking of a German U-boat whose commander had been credited with 60,000 tons of United Nations shipping.

The sinking occurred in the far western Mediterranean, more than a week before the outbreak of the Pacific war.

The undersea craft was commanded by Captain-Lieutenant Gert Schreiber. A Dutch submarine also was lost in the encounter, which occurred Nov. 28 last.

Schreiber, according to the N. E. I. high command, was a classmate of the late Lieut. Guenther Prien, the U-boat ace who sneaked into Scapa Flow at the outbreak of the war and sank the British battleship Royal Oak. He was the holder of many Nazi honors for his achievements.

Surprise Move Made In Libya

Rommel Thrusts Spearhead Into Begima, 16 Miles East Of Bengazi

INTENSIVE AIR ATTACKS ON NAZIS

By W. P. SAPHIRE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CAIRO, Jan. 29.—In a new surprise move, Major General Erwin Rommel, commander of Axis troops in Libya, today thrust a spearhead of mechanized forces in Begima, 16 miles due east of Bengazi and less than 10 miles from the coastal escarpment held by British imperial armies.

Rommel thereby placed himself in a position to ward off British attacks from the north on his earlier positions between Solluch and Msus.

"In the last 24 hours," an official communique said, "the enemy's main forces in the Msus area swung west and northwest.

"Enemy columns including tanks contacted our advanced troops south of Bengazi.

"At the same time a strong enemy force succeeded in reaching Begima.

"In the Msus area, patrol activity on both sides continued and several minor engagements occurred.

Bombers Active

"Throughout the day our fighters and bombers again supported ground troops with intensive attacks on enemy columns during which we destroyed a number of vehicles and damaged many."

Msus is in the mid-Libyan desert, 80 miles southeast of the port of Bengasi.

Foreign Minister From Argentine In Plane Crash

(International News Service)

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 29.—Dr. Enrique Ruiz-Guinazu, Argentine foreign minister, escaped with a ducking today when his private plane pancaked into Rio De Janeiro harbor shortly after taking off en route to Buenos Aires at the close of the inter-American conference.

The pilot's wife and one of the other eight passengers were injured, however.

According to eye-witness accounts, the motor failed almost immediately after the take-off and the plane fell into the water.

Ruiz Guinazu, chief Argentine delegate to the conference, returned to the Copablanca Hotel, apparently not even shaken by his experience. The injured were taken to a hospital.

Russian Drive Toward Smolensk Is Making Progress Steadily

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Jan. 29.—Destruction of another German transport in the Barents Sea was announced by the Russian high command today as Red army forces threatened the new Nazi defense lines after scoring new breakthroughs northwest and south of Moscow.

A new war communique, issued at noon, stated:

"Fighting continued throughout the night. An enemy transport was sunk in the Barents Sea."

The latest Russian successes were registered in the face of desperate German resistance.

Cavalrymen Take Toll

At the same time, reports from the front indicated hard-charging Russian cavalrymen on the Ukraine front were taking a heavy toll of enemy forces.

Northwest of Moscow, the encircled city of Rzhev was expected to fall into Soviet hands in the near future.

The Soviet midnight war communique told of "violent fighting" during which the advancing Red army inflicted "heavy losses on the enemy's manpower and made further progress."

This advance, it was indicated, has carried one Russian spearhead within 120 miles of the former Russo-Polish border. Military dispatches said this column had

American Volunteers Knock Down Jap Fliers

By M. M. HARDINGE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 29—American volunteer pilots were credited today with knocking down 10 more Japanese raiders that attacked the Rangoon airdrome last night in a new aerial assault on the Burmese capital.

In addition, nine other Japanese planes were declared to have been damaged.

Twenty-five Japanese planes participated in the Wednesday night raid.

These new successes for the American airmen were added to the destruction of at least six and probably 12 Japanese raiders over Rangoon yesterday. The daylight Jap raids followed a heavy R. A. F. attack on Bangkok, capital of Thailand, which caused a number of huge fires.

Advance Slowed Down

Meanwhile, unofficial reports regarding the fighting 25 miles east of Moulmen stated the Japanese advance had been slowed down considerably if not halted with the aid of repeated British air attacks. These R. A. F. assaults were said to have piled up Japanese bodies and the wreckage of vehicles along the road from the Thai-Burmese border westward through Kawkareik.

Churchill Gets Overwhelming Confidence Vote

House Of Commons Gives Prime Minister Carte Blanche To Go Ahead

ENTHUSIASM AS VOTE IS ANNOUNCED

Prime Minister Makes No Apologies, Excuses Or Promises, In Speech

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 29—Prime Minister Winston Churchill's captainey and conduct of the war was overwhelmingly upheld in the House of Commons today.

By a vote of 464 to 1, the House gave him carte blanche to go on as he has been doing and accepted without further ado his warning that nothing but "toil, blood, sweat and tears" lie ahead in the immediate future.

The vote was the largest ever accorded Churchill.

Of the entire House membership, there were only 24 abstentions, most of them laborites.

The vote was taken on a motion by Sir Roger Keyes, World War hero recently removed as chief of the commandos, who nas been a severe Churchill critic. Keyes appealed for a unanimous vote.

Closing his address demanding a show of confidence in the manner he is leading the nation in war, the prime minister said:

"I offer no apologies or excuses and make no promises.

Sees Victory In End

"But I avow my confidence was never stronger than this moment that we shall bring this conflict to an end in a manner agreeable to the interests of our country and to the future of the world.

Says 80 German Subs Along Coast

Van Zandt Tells Of Convoy Trip

Says Only Isolated Ships Are Being Attacked By Submarines

SAYS U. S. NAVY DOING GOOD JOB

By GRIFFING BANCROFT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R) Pa., a commander in the navy, ho has just completed a tour of duty as a convoy officer, today declared that Germany has about 80 submarines operating along the Atlantic coast of the United States.

The naval commander emphasized, however, that these U-boats are now sinking only "stray ships," that the United States navy is doing "a damned good job," and that the submarine menace will soon be mastered completely as it was in the last war.

The Pennsylvanian, a naval officer in World War I and former commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, made these statements as he returned to his seat in the house after serving in convoy duty across the Atlantic.

He was recalled to active duty soon after the outbreak of hostilities, but has now been placed on the inactive list until April to aid in handling war measures in congress.

Has 80 Along Our Coast

"It is well known that Hitler has about 80 submarines—one third of his underseas fleet—operating along our coast," Van Zandt said.

"Obviously he is trying to make us spread out our naval patrols so much that our aid to England will be curtailed. But all he is doing is sinking stray ships, or sometimes ships which get lost from convoys.

"There have been no attacks on convoys in the Atlantic for a long time, and that's because our navy is doing a damned good job. In the convoy I was in, the weather was very rough and we did lose a couple of ships, but they were ones that got separated.

"We mastered the submarine menace in the last war, and we certainly can do it now."

At the same time, Van Zandt added his voice to those in congress who are calling for further investigation of the tragedy at Pearl Harbor.

"The Roberts report on Pearl Harbor was a fair and a proper report," he declared. "But there certainly should be a congressional investigation of the whole thing now—the people are entitled to it and the navy's reputation demands it.

"There are two things especially we should determine, in order to prevent similar disasters from occuring in the future. These are, why was there confusion between the army and navy commands, and why wasn't there more equipment in Hawaii."

supply and reinforcements columns making their way toward Msus from Antelat, Axis supply base in Southern Cyrenaica.

Planes Swarm Desert

Enjoying air superiority over the enemy, British planes swarmed over the desert, machine-gunning troop-carrying trucks, blasting enemy encampments and bombing supply columns and depots.

Other R.A.F. units bombed the Axis concentration points on Sicily. The attacks were centered on Catania and Comiso, where airborne reinforcements were assembled awaiting the flight to Libya to reinforce General Rommel's forces.

El Agheila and Jedabaya, formerly British held but recaptured in the Axis counter-drive, also were heavily bombed and supply trucks and storehouses were blasted.

Resistance Stiffens

Still further British withdrawal was expected, informed quarters declared, but resistance was stiffening, and the time when imperial troops would make a determined stand against the Axis tide was not far off.

Unusually heavy rains and the dynamic character of the desert war-of-movement made it difficult to place exact battle lines, military quarters said, but the present zone of action could be fixed between Msus and Solluch (40 miles south of Bengasi.)

Here the Axis mobile units and British advance guard had paused, halting General Rommel's flanking movement.

Was At Fort Knox

Immediately assigned by the Army to Fort Knox, Ky., she quickly won recognition for her splendid service. It was believed yesterday that she has already won promotion from second to first lieutenant.

Cable dispatches from Ireland say Miss Keane is in command of a large corps of nurses, all Fort Knox young women. In fact, all of the nurses with the first soldiers are from the Kentucky camp.

Proud of her accomplishments, Miss Keane's parents were happy when news reached them Wednesday that she had arrived safely abroad.

"Naturally, we're happy — and we're happy Agnes is with the first group," her mother said. "She loves her Army work."

Got Orders New Year's Day

"Agnes got her first orders to go abroad on her birthday—New Year's day. She called us early in the morning from a New York hotel to tel us she was going aboard ship soon, but she couldn't say where. Later we learned she sailed on January 14, and now we hear she's in Ireland."

Lieutenant Keane, 28, is a graduate of senior high school here, and for two years prior to her nursing training attended Youngstown college. She received her degree of bachelor of science in nursing in May of 1939. She took the Army commission in 1940.

It was learned that Lieutenant Keane is engaged to Capt. W. W. Hall, a Chicagoan who is attached to the 37th Armored Regiment at Pine Camp, N. Y.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 29.—At least two Pennsylvanians, both from the western end of the state, were among the nurses who accompanied the first American expeditionary force of this war on its historic trip to northern Ireland, it was disclosed today.

They were Lieutenant Agnes J. Keane of New Castle, who accompanied the group, and Second Lieutenant Frances Jackson of McKeesport. Both were trained at Fort Knox, Ky., according to the war department.

"The president's feeling is that the handcuffs ought to be taken off of the F. B. I. and put somewhere else," Early said as he announced that J. Edgar Hoover, chief of F. B. I., was conferring with Mr. Roosevelt on "means of broadening the limited powers" of that agency.

The presidential secretary pointed out that the Roberts report on the Pearl Harbor fiasco had "revealed the situation" which the government was trying to overcome in its attack on fifth column activity and espionage.

Deaths of the Day

L. A. Tucker

An aged New Bedford resident, L. A. Tucker, 94, passed away this morning at 4 o'clock at his home in that community. Mr. Tucker had been in good health until about three weeks ago when he fell at his home.

Born September 22, 1847, on a farm near Cambridge Springs, he was a son of Bradford and Anna Ford Tucker. He had lived at Cambridge Springs until he moved to New Bedford 26 years ago in March. Mr. Tucker had always been greatly interested in business affairs. For the past 65 years he had been a member of Cambridge Grange and was, at one time, farm editor of the Pennsylvania Farmer, a magazine.

Survivors are his wife, Cora Rogers Tucker, whom he married 26 years ago; one son, Walter of near Cambridge Springs, and one grandson, Ivan R., of Cambridge Springs.

The body is at the Anderson funeral home in Hubbard and will be taken to the residence on Saturday. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Hopewell Presbyterian church with the pastor, Dr. R. W. Veach, in charge. Interment will be in Hopewell cemetery.

Mrs. McKinley Morris.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morris, Wallace avenue, has received word of the death of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. McKinley Morris, of Washington, D. C., who passed away Wednesday.

The body will arrive in this city on Friday evening. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

James P. Tanner.

A lifelong resident of Neshannock township, James P. Tanner, aged 78, passed away this morning at 11 o'clock at his home in Highland Heights after a long illness.

Mr. Tanner was born in Neshannock township in July, 1863, a son of William and Eliza Pointon Tanner. He attended the Coaltown Free Methodist church.

Surviving are his wife, Laura Fobes Tanner; three daughters, Mrs. Horace Needler of New Castle, Mrs. Albert Sadler of Highland Heights, Miss Lillian Tanner, at home; one brother, Seph Tanner of Highland Heights; five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The body has been removed to the Joseph B. Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter, where funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

The family will receive friends at the mortuary this evening and Friday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Brightshue Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. Otto J. Brightshue, 512 North Cascade street, were conducted from the Ritchie funeral home, South Mill street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with the Rev. Sidney K. Bliss, pastor of Central Christian church, officiating.

Pallbearers were Mike Sopkovich, Joseph Lane, Charles M. Marshall, Wayne Brightshue, Merle Brightshue and Robert Goodrich.

Interment was in Graceland cemetery.

Mrs. Winter Funeral Time.

Solemn requiem high mass for Mrs. Katherine Kennelly Winter, 227 North Ray street, will be celebrated Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from St. Mary's church. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Pees Funeral.

Funeral services for Walter J. Pees, Hickory township, who died Monday evening, are being held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Byham funeral home, Meadville. Interment is being made at Greendale cemetery there.

Mr. Pees is survived by his wife; a son and three daughters, Dr. W. W. Pees, Miss Cora Pees, Mrs. John Rosin, all of Meadville, Mrs. Edwin Finney of East Lansing, Mich.; a brother, Harry Pees, of Tulsa, Okla.; two sisters, Mrs. Frank Ewing and Mrs. Lee Prenatt of East Mead township; a son, Everett McCurdy, Cleveland, and three grandchildren.

Mrs. Latess Services

Solemn requiem high mass for Mrs. Joseph Latess, 235 Cascade street, was celebrated this morning at 9:30 o'clock from St. Vitus church with Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita as celebrant, Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito as deacon and Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso as sub-deacon.

Pallbearers were John Latess, Frank Vignioni, Frank Scilla, Libro Zarlingto, Vito Donofrio and Nick DeRosa.

Rev. Fr. Inteso also conducted the committal service at the grave in St. Vitus cemetery.

Hawaiian Attack Blamed On American Smugness By Roberts

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—American smugness and complacency were blamed today for the tragic results of the treacherous Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor by Associate Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts.

In his first public address since returning from Honolulu, where he headed the president's investigating committee, Justice Roberts declared he could not understand why this country was so "lackadaisical about the blood-red danger that has been facing us now these years."

At the bottom of the Pearl Harbor debacle, he said, "was this sense of superiority and satisfaction—'it can't happen to us; we're too big; we're too great; we're building all these airplanes'."

reached Velikiye Luki, 270 miles northwest of Moscow and only 80 miles from the Latvian border.

Flanking Move

Another Russian flanking force was declared to have struck southward from the Rzuev-Valikiye Luki sector and to have advanced within about 100 miles northwest of Smolensk, which lies 230 miles west of Moscow.

The push toward Smolensk has created a threat to the left flank and rear of Hitler's "final" defense line, which is hinged on Smolensk.

The line consists of two nets of strongly fortified positions, a mile and a half apart and stretching for a length of about 250 miles north and south, according to dispatches.

German troops as far east as Vyazma, nearly 200 miles east of Smolensk, were said to be in a precarious position as a result of the Russian flanking attack toward Smolensk.

Follow Napoleon's Route

These troops, retreating along the classic route which the Napoleonic troops followed a century ago, might be forced to stage a general retreat back to and perhaps beyond Smolensk to escape encirclement, military sources said.

At Rzhev, due north of Vyazma and 130 miles northwest of Moscow, a big German garrison was reported to be offering stiff resistance, from behind prepared positions to the Russian steamroller. But penetrations were made, it was said, into the encircled Nazi defenses.

The Moscow radio, meanwhile, said that since the start of hostilities submarines of the Russian northern fleet have sunk 40 German transports totalling 500,000 tons, without suffering any losses to themselves.

The broadcast said the Germans have been forced to take the defensive, laying min-fields and steel nets in the region of Nazi-occupied northern harbors.

NEW SUCCESSES FOR U. S. FORCES IN PHILIPPINES

fighting planes were shot down and a third damaged while American planes escaped without loss.

In previous attacks the bombers had sunk two transports, set fire to another, damaged a cruiser and shot down five enemy planes with the loss of only one U. S. plane.

Text Of Communique

Text of the army's 81st communique follows:

"Philippine Theater — Headlong enemy infantry assaults on the right and left flanks of our troops in the Bataan peninsula were broken up by our artillery fire. Enemy losses were heavy.

"Activitiy of hostile aircraft was limited to reconnaissance flights.

"Netherlands Indies—A third attack by heavy American bombers on Japanese shipping in Macassar Straits resulted in the destruction of an enemy transport in Balikpapan harbor.

"Another transport was set on fire. Two enemy fighting planes were shot down and a third damaged. Five of our bombers participated in the attack and all returned safely to their base.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

Senate Committee Would Exclude Dakota Senator

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Asserting that the "people of North Dakota did not know the facts" when they elected him, the Senate elections committee in a formal report to the Senate today called for the exclusion of Sen. William E. Langer (R) N D., on grounds of moral turpitude of "many shades and pattern."

The charge of moral turpitude, contained in a petition filed by North Dakota citizens January 3, 1941, "has been proven beyond all reasonable doubt," the committee held in a 76-page report summarizing the results of the year-long investigation.

Sixteen Japanese Fliers Shot Down

(International News Service)

RANGOON, Jan. 29. — Raising their two-day total to 16 victories in the terrific air battle over Rangoon, American volunteer fliers defending this Burmese outpost today shot down nine additional Japanese planes. They had accounted for seven yesterday.

Inquiry was made of The News in regard to the amount of money asked in the first Red Cross War Fund Campaign in World War One, back in 1917. Research reveals that the total sum asked of the nation was one hundred million dollars, of which Lawrence county's quota was $60,000 and needless to say, it was easily raised. The Red Cross was founded here on April 12, 1917, with a membership of close to 20,000.

Speaking of funds raising campaigns, Lawrence county citizens have contributed most generously this year to various kinds of drives. There was the U. S. O. for $20,000; Community Chest, $65,000; Red Cross Roll Call, $20,000; and now the War Relief Fund for $40,000, to say nothing of bond purchases, and other small campaigns.

men roared skyward when a large formation of Jap bombers, supported by 40 fighters, sought to hammer Rangoon.

It was announced that six of these raiders were shot down and another six "probably destroyed." Nine others were damaged and it was doubted that they were able to return to their home bases.

The 19 planes shot down or damaged last night were in addition to the plane casualties suffered by the Japs during the day. It was announced the American volunteers emerged from the spectacular night fight without losses.

A brief announcement told of the R. A. F. attack on Bangkok, saying that "large fires" were kindled in the target area by British bombs.

FEAR 245 LOST IN SHIP ATTACK

worst sea tragedy in western hemisphere waters since the war began.

Percy Kelly, chief officer of the Lady Hawkins, said the steamer was attacked by a large enemy submarine off Cape Hatteras, N. C.

The U-boat, presumably German, sent two torpedoes crashing into the crowded vessel, which sank in less than half an hour.

Two hundred persons were swept overboard by the explosion of the first torpedo and most of these met immediate death. Some were women and children.

The survivors brought to San Juan, including two women and a 2½-year-old girl, were picked up from a lifeboat by the steamship Coamo after drifting for five days and nights.

Had 321 Aboard

The liner had 321 persons aboard including passengers and crew. Of these 245 are missing and feared dead, although some others besides those brought to San Juan were believed to have taken to lifeboats.

Five others, including an aged woman, died aboard the lifeboat discovered by the Coamo. The lifeboat started out with 76 occupants after the Lady Hawkins was hit.

Seventy-one of these still were alive when the Coamo sighted the lifeboat and picked up its survivors Friday night.

In addition to its crew, the doomed ship carried construction workers, including scores of Americans and their families, Canadian passengers, British marines and some British officers.

When the attack occurred the submarine rose to the surface and played searchlights on the liner before torpedoing it.

One woman said she saw her husband killed before her eyes.

The ship's master, Capt. Huntley Giffin, was among the missing and apparently went down with his vessel. He was last seen on the bridge.

There was a possibility that others may have been rescued. Chief Officer Kelly said he thought two other lifeboats had got away safely from the torpedoed ship and that their occupants may have been picked up.

We wish to thank our friends, neighbors and all who extended us their kindness and sympathy at the time of the death of Howell Hall.

HADASSAH LINEN SHOWER IS FEATURE

New Castle chapter of Hadassah linen shower was held at the Cosmo club rooms Tuesday evening, with Mrs. J. Kulkin, president, presiding over the business period. They had the pleasure of hearing as speaker, Mrs. B. I Stein, vice president of Hadassah chapter at Pittsburgh.

Mrs. R. Rubenson gave an interesting report on the recent conference held at Hotel Schenley in Pittsburgh, January 11. Also, she related the fact that Miss Juliette Benjamin, speaker at the conference luncheon and national secretary, reported that immigration into Palestine was continuing, and, that Hadassah does the work there, identical to the Red Cross work done in this country.

Mrs. H. Pitnoff, general chairman of Hadassahs' donor dance which will take place Tuesday evening, March 24, at the New Castle Field club, announced two successful rallys had already been held, leading up to this fund raising function. She had one rally at her home, and the second was held at the home of Mrs. L. Kohn. The proceeds will be used this year for the urgent needs of the war emergency program.

Mrs. J. Silverman reported a most successful ingathering and announced that additional articles for the shower not already in will be collected by members of the committee.

The program was in charge of Mrs. R. Rubenson, chairman, and she introduced as speaker, Mrs. Stein, who reviewed in a most interesting manner the book, "That Day Alone," which gives a glimpse into the future. In closing, Mrs. Stein, who is in demand for her book reviews, left the assemblage with the thought: "The day will come when man will be come tired walking alone and will turn to his brother."

After joining in the singing of "America" refreshments were served by the following hostesses: Mrs. L. Miller, Mrs. D. Tobin, Mrs. A. Gonick, Mrs. D. Rogovin, Mrs William Cohen, Mrs. E. Masters, Mrs. B. Moresky, Mrs. J. Hirshman, Mrs. L. Rosenberg and Mrs. L. Groden.

Marcin Bridge Club

Delightfully informal was the meeting of the Marcin Bridge club members when they met as guests of Mrs. Harry Zimmerman of the Ellwood-New Castle road at a tea room, 234 Highland avenue, Tuesday evening.

JAPAN'S HASTE

IN launching what appears to be intended as a major assault upon Australia, Japan again confesses the necessity of haste in her program of conquest of the Oriental world.

To make a successful invasion and to hold her gains, Japan must maintain a line of communications through a multitude of islands of the Dutch East Indies. These islands, still strongly held by Allied forces, are eminently suitable for the defensive naval warfare upon which the United Nations must rely until they are able to assemble their air, naval and army forces in sufficient strength for an effective counter blow.

Sinkings of Japanese naval, transport and cargo vessels by United States, Dutch and British air and sea craft in these waters is but the beginning of the havoc which will be wrought on Jap shipping in these waters.

Under such handicaps, it might seem doubtful if Tokyo plans at this time to attempt conquest of the entire Australian continent. She would seem to need strong bases from which to harry the Allies' remaining lines of communications with Singapore and the Indies, particularly through Torres strait, and from which to pound Australian centers to prevent the dispatching of large numbers of that island contingent's famous fighters to the more critical battle zones.

But the Allies cannot proceed upon the assumption that Australia will not now be invaded by the Japanese. The series of urgent appeals for aid sent by the Australian government must bring prompt response in air, land and sea armament and manpower. Australia must be defended at all cost.

But by thus risking her largely irreplaceable naval forces in defending this long line of communications while the Allies retain strong offensive bases to her rear. Japan admits the urgency of a final victory before the full force of opposition can be hurled against her.

CHANGING THE JINGLE

Small change hard money will soon have an unfamiliar sound. Yes, it's the war. Some of the tin will be missing from the penny and all the nickel from the nickel.

The proposed nickel will contain half silver and half copper, eliminating a third of the copper and all the nickel now used. Thus, literally, a nickel will become a silver.

The new one-cent piece is to consist of 95 per cent copper and 5 per cent zinc. Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, Director of the Mint, estimates that 100,000 pounds of ton a year will be saved by reducing the tin content of the penny.

The new "nickel" will be unchanged in size but will be slightly thinner and will gradually assume a yellow tinge. Washington insists that it will work in slot machines, etc.

Those who predicted that many things would be changed by the war were right. Even the nation's smallest coins will undergo transformation.

TANKERS THE TARGET

Nearly all of the ships Axis submarines have sent to the bottom of the sea along the Atlantic coast of North America were oil tankers. There is an obvious reason for this. Submarines aim for the biggest ships they encounter and tankers are bigger than cargo vessels.

As a matter of fact, most of the trade between United States ports is now confined to tankers. Cargo vessels have been requisitioned to carry military supplies to American forces and to the forces of America's Allies.

Seven-eights of the freight which formerly moved from coast to coast by ships now goes by rail.

Tankers were the chief means of transportation of oil between Gulf ports and the Atlantic seaports, their daily average being 1,200,000 barrels. It would require 175,000 railway tank cars working constantly to duplicate this transportation and neither the cars nor the facilities for moving them are available.

The tankers will continue to carry oil, convoyed by naval vessels if necessary.

In 1940 a total of 111 cargo ships were carrying goods from port to port along the United States coasts. More and more have been diverted to carrying lease-lend arms across the oceans until few remain. There are no passenger ships on the inter-coastal runs. Railroads have taken over virtually all transportation business except the hauling of oil and will continue to hold it until after the war.

WE SHOULD BUY BRAZILIAN RUBBER

The serious rubber shortage facing the United States stems from our long and determined dependence up the Far East as a source of supply. If we had taken the time, the effort and the money required to develop rubber production in our own American tropics the situation would be far different today.

We are still, unaccountably, neglecting an important source in South America. The government agency established to acquire emergency stocks of rubber has yet to buy one pound from Brazil.

Price, of course, is a major factor. A year ago, when the Germans were buying Brazilian rubber at 35 cents a pound, authorities in control at Washington believed such a price would disturb the Far East market, where 20 cents a pound was the prevailing figure. Since then German buying has ceased and Brazil has agreed to sell all its rubber and other war-important products to the United States. But the ruling 20-cents-a-pound price is regarded in Brazil as too little to make it worth while.

Meanwhile, the government is spending many millions to develop synthetic rubber. Brazilian rubber, estimated sufficient to fill one-tenth of our needs at present and capable of immensely greater development, remains in Brazil.

Here is a story of sadly missed opportunities. It is to be hoped that the United States delegation to the Inter-American Conference at Rio de Janeiro, while it is still on the Brazilian ground-floor, so to speak, may be able to make some arrangement that will put an end to the present impasse and speed delivery of Brazilian rubber to the United States—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Japan claims it did not need to start a war for economic reasons. Just as many thought, her action was motivated by pure cussedness.

HOW TEACHERS CAN HELP MORALE

We have often pointed out the obligations teachers have for building good morale in school children; how as never before the teacher should make these children feel emotionally secure. We also recognized that she may be under an emotional strain herself, and that her first step in furthering morale is to master well her own emotions and cultivate in herself good physical and mental health. Now a few suggestions to the teacher:

1—Watch your physical health. Get enough sleep and rest if at all possible. To this end neglect the non-essentials. Don't allow yourself to grow too weary. Lying stretched out on the floor, or on a bed not too soft, a few times a day for brief periods should help. If you are living with your family, don't do too much work at home, in spite of emotional pressure. You are paid from public funds to give your best to the children. You need some time to loll. Walk in the open air and sunshine, but not too much. If in walking distance, walk to school, gain in health and economize for defense.

2—At school don't stand nearly all the time. I hope there are no more school principals who require that the teachers always stand. When your children go out on the playground, you go along. You can learn more about your children there than in the classroom.

3—Don't take on much outside work. Teachers are over-eager, as a rule, to participate in all sorts of relief and civilian defense service. Your best defense service is to the children you teach. Don't feel you must attend nearly all the suppers and luncheons, unless they prove good recreation to you. Men teachers and principals should see that their first and biggest service is to children, and that it often takes more courage to do well the job at hand than to engage in more dramatic defense activities. More than ever teachers, especially women teachers, need wholesome recreation; need to play games and enjoy more associations of men as well as women; need to read light stories and get more laughs from comic strips and funny shows; need to tell jokes and encourage their pupils to tell jokes.

5—Most teachers should listen less to war news on the air and more to music and other programs which entertain calmly. They should dwell less on the details of the war news and more on its broad developments, both alone and in the classroom.

6—Teachers, as well as all other adults, should find added values now from attending public worship and in periods of meditation on things spiritual. Let them encourage their children to attend Sunday school and church, selected according to the wishes of their parents. It is a good time for all of us to read and reread our gospels and recoup our faith.

PLEA TO WORKMEN

Workman, every nail you drive
Helps to keep a boy alive!
Every tempered bit of steel,
Every turn of gear and wheel
Somewhere, land or sky or sea,
Helps us on to victory.

Workman, in the task you do
You are serving freedom, too.
Has your boy gone off to sea?
Pilot of the skies is he?
Night and day remember then,
Work can bring him home again.

Workman, skilled of eye and hand,
Longer at your duty stand.
Somewhere now are lads you know
Fighting 'gainst a cruel foe,
Fighting hard for freedom's sake,
Needing things you toilers make.

Workman, every screw you turn
Speeds some soldier boy's return.
Every rivet red you drive
Helps to keep a boy alive.
Workman faster, night and day
Work for victory while you may.

One Man's Opinion

General MacArthur will be happy to know that we have landed troops in northern Ireland.

The general examined all his birthday packages and found no reinforcements.

Greetings went to him by cable that would have been much more acceptable if delivered air mail by army bombers.

We told him "Keep punching fellow—they can't hurt us.

News of the northern Ireland arrival probably was received with equal enthusiasm in Australia, China, and the Dutch East Indies.

We will have to explain that the British Isles had priority.

We will not be swayed from getting Hitler even if the Japanese beetles eat up all the Spinach in our front yard.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:14. Sun rises tomorrow 7:12.

A Hollywood actress was married five minutes after she got her divorce. That was close planning.

It's interesting to hear people talk who know what they are talking about.

Sign on a farm gate in Ohio: "Peddlers beware. We shoot every tenth peddler. The ninth one just left."

We have heard very little disorderly horn blowing recently. The fines the mayor hands out for that seems effective.

When mother calls it "that disreputable old thing," it means that dad's only comfortable chair must be sacrificed to pride.

What has become of the old-fashioned fellow who thought it smart to jerk a chair from under a friend who was about to sit down?

A candidate for congress once said: "If I remain silent they will suspect me to be a fool. I shall speak and remove all doubt."

EVERY MAN HAS HIS PRICE

"Darling," she cooed, "I've just read that a man out west exchanged his wife for a horse. You wouldn't exchange me for a horse, would you?"

"Never," he replied dutifully. "But I would hate to have anyone tempt me with a good car."

A woman eulogizing her late husband, finished by saying, "He was a good man, a Republican from end to end."

Men in the cavalry in this war may not have things any easier than they had in previous wars but the horses have trucks to ride in now.

"What is your occupation?" "Well, it's not exactly an occupation. It's a pursuit. I'm a bill collector.

DIAMOND LINGO

"I heard your kid bawling the other evening," remarked Carl to a friend the other evening.

"That's just what he was doing," the father said. "And after four bawls I took him out and warmed his base."

He: "Are you willing to live on my income, dear?" She: "Yes, if you get another for yourself."

"Does your husband worry much about the bills?" "No, he's letting the merchants do the worrying."

When a boarder shoots his landlady it's often hard what to think.

Out at State college the science professor was giving his lecture.

"Now what happens when a body is immersed in water?" he asked.

"If the telephone doesn't ring, there'll be somebody knocking at the door," replied one co-ed.

Airplanes are now landing on Pennsylvania's dream highway and getting off it again. That's a great road and should run clear across this state.

Women's hats aren't the only things that are fashionable and still look terrible.

It's a wise man, who does not know how to do a thing, and is smart enough to hire the brains that does know how to do it.

ALL A SURPRISE

The chief of police was making his rounds of the city the other day and happened on the scene just after an auto crash.

He helped the driver of one car out of the wrecked machine while others were assisting the other operator.

"I wish you could give me some details of this crash," the chief said.

"So do I," responded the driver. "There was a loud crash and then I remembered nothing more."

It's a long time since we've missed an opportunity to lose money.

A shoulder strap is what keeps an attraction from becoming a sensation.

An alleged expert in dress styles in New York said: "If a girl got a back view of herself in a mirror, it will settle the question of her wearing slacks.

A sweet little girl who has her name embroidered on the collar of her white blouse, has struck on another bright idea. She says she is going to her her telephone number on the other side of her collar.

FOLLOWING ORDERS

The new helper in the heat-treating plant was rather dumb. The mechanic he was assisting had quite a time, but finally the helper seemed to show some glimmerings of intelligence.

"Now I'm going to take this piece of steel out of the furnace," the mechanic explained. "And I'm going to put it on the anvil. Then when I nod my head I want you to hit it."

The helper did. He was discharged when the mechanic recovered consciousness.

If a man has no conscience, the easiest way to get rich is to offer a quack remedy for the ills of women.

Oh, Liberalism, what frauds and racketeers gain Mrs. Roosevelt's stubborn support in they name!

ANSWERING CHILDREN'S QUESTIONS

"My mother thinks I should answer all of the questions my little son, aged 4, asks me. These are so complicated and numerous that a great deal of my time would be consumed in so doing. Don't you think it necessary to answer the same questions over and over again? Here is what I must put up with: 'Where do aeroplanes sleep at night? What makes aeroplanes go up in the air? Where does the sun go at night? Tell me just how far a parent's duty extends in such a situation?" —Mother.

Answer: Every child's developing mind has a voracious thirst for knowledge. And this thirst should be quenched as much as possible. It is a healthy, normal condition and instead of being bored and annoyed by this childish curiosity parents should be pleased at nature's generosity in bestowing upon them a bright, mentally-alert child. It is often difficult, I know, to have your own concentration upset by an onslaught of questions, especially questions sometimes difficult to answer. But it is just as important for parents to assist in the mental development of their offspring as in its physical development. So, I think you should answer your child's every question. I have a friend whose child of 12 excels in all of her studies. I have observed from her babyhood that her mother not only answered in detail all of her childish questions, but read to her before she was old enough to read, and told her each night a chapter of a continued story. Such is the basis of a good education and a fund of knowledge that is everlasting. Parents have a golden opportunity to give mental stimulus to their children and should not begrude them the time so profitably invested.

Question: I am to be best man at a wedding, and I plan to give the groom a stag party. I have never given one before, nor have I attended one. Please help me with my arrangements. Should each man invited bring a gift for the groom? —B. N.

Answer: The bridegroom, himself, should give a stag party a night or two before his wedding. It is not your obligation to give this affair, nor is it essential for you or any of the other guests to bring gifts to the bridegroom at his bachelor dinner. He, at the time, should give presents to his wedding attendants. Why not, instead, give a party in honor of both the bride and groom, inviting the members of the wedding party, the parents of the guest-of-honor and any others whom you wish to entertain.

EXECUTIVES

Mrs. Elizabeth Gregg McGibbon, a lecturer who specializes on the secretary-executive relationship, says that the girls don't like bosses who: mumble while dictating; go to sleep while dictating; park their feet on the desk; blow smoke in the stenographer's face; chew tobacco; and gouge in the pinches.

Maybe you wonder, as we did, what "gouge in the pinches" means.

To resolve our perplexity, we telephoned the reporter who attended the meeting, and he said a "gouger" is a man who makes passes at his secretary. Mrs. McGibbon has a name for this type. She calls him "Felix the feeler."

Mrs. McGibbon doesn't think that a secretary should be called on to mix a bicarbonate of soda for a boss who is suffering from a hangover.

We have known people to become sore because their pictures was in the paper, while others were mad because it wasn't. We heard of a little girl who was tickled because she thought someone's picture in the paper was hers.

World War Second Shatters Illusion
Wars Are Believed To Be Inevitable
Chance Of Permanent Peace Unlikely

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—References to World War I and World War II are deprecated by some few commentators, on the ground that designating wars by number implies acceptance of them as periodically inevitable forever, or on until the world's end, anyway.

There isn't as much of this kind of talk now, though, as there was during World War I. There was a lot of it then, and "Never again" was a regular motto for a matter of years after the end of that particular No. 1 experience. Today there isn't enough pacifism in the atmosphere to speak of. Even the pre-Pearl Harbor isolationists mostly are all-out belligerents at the situation's present stage.

Now, will we have another pacifistic epidemic following experience No. 2, as we did the last time?

I'm inclined to doubt it.

My impression is that critics of war-numbering are right—that the generality of folk are converts to the proposition that vast conflicts are a certainty, about every so often, as long as the earth continues to be inhabited by human beings.

Wars didn't use to have to be numbered. They were numerous, but comparatively local—the Revolutionary war, the War of 1812, the Mexican war, the war between the states (Civil War), the Spanish-American war, the Russo-Japanese war, the Franco-Prussian war, and, farther back, the Wars of the Roses, and centuries of still earlier affairs, indefinitely to so-called civilization's rearward, just as we may have an infinite futurity of them.

Many Were Local

However, a majority of those past clashes were between a couple of countries only. It was simple enough to speak of the Crimean war, fought in just one little spot on the globe. It's more complicated to mention the Anglo-American-Canadian - Australian - Filipino - Malayan - Chinese - Russian - Dutch East Indian - Japanese - German-Italian war, not counting France and a whole galaxy of temporarily overrun nationalities that will be entitled to notice in the long run. World War II is an easier name to call it by.

But is it going to be possible to establish everlasting peace at the end of it?

That was what was tried before

WHAT ARE "FAIR PRICES?"

Forty-five States have recently enacted Fair Trade Acts, and eleven courts of last resort have passed upon their constitutionality. Only one act was rejected and that because of a defective title.

The latest case came up in the State of Washington, where the law gives a wholesaler the right to fix the price at which his article shall be resold by the retailer to the public.

A cut-rate drug company, having purchased a large supply of specialty upon the condition that it should not resell for less than the fixed price, proceeded to dump the product on the market as a leader for below the proper figure. When other druggists objected, the company claimed that the Fair Trade Act was unconstitutional. The Supreme Court of Washington has just declared that the state law permitting price fixing under these circumstances is constitutional and enforceable. Said the Court:

"The legislature is vested with a wide discretion in determining what the public interest requires, and what measures are necessary to protect those interests. The legislature decided that trade-mark owners, distributors of identified commodities and the public needed protection against injurious and uneconomic prices.

"The legislature, without a doubt, has the power to legalize contracts establishing the minimum price at which retailers must sell trade-marked articles.

One jurist dissented most violently, remarking: "If we continue this course, we deserve, in the words of Benjamin Franlin, neither liberty nor safety."

Seeking An Exit Line

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. IN Washington last Friday Mayor LaGuardia made it clear three separate times in a single speech that he expects to quit his directorship of the Office of Civilian Defense. There can no longer be any doubt of his intention. But, he did not say when. The trouble seems to be that the Mayor cannot find what in theatrical circles is referred to as a good "exit line".

OBVIOUSLY, he has made up his mind to get out and wants to get out, but he naturally does not want to seem forced out by the criticism. Quite clearly he is searching for the exit line and his early withdrawal from a post to which he never should have been named or, named, never should have accepted, is certain. This being established, the question remains as to whether Mrs. Roosevelt, whom he appointed as associate director and who has been subjecetd to the same criticism for much the same reasons, will retire with him.

THE belief here is that she will not. For one thing it is asserted that, unlike the Mayor, she does not want to get out, but does want to stay in. She greatly enjoys what she is doing, as is evidenced almost daily by her comment in her column upon her own activity. For another, despite a large volume of opinion to the contrary, she is entirely convinced that she is doing a fine job. The confusion to which she adds and the resentment she has created altogether escape her. Her feeling is that she is needed in this position. And the other day she said that she would stay "as long as they want me".

MR. LANDIS, the recently appointed OCD executive, naturally can do nothing except laud the services of the Mayor and Mrs. Roosevelt and express the hope that they will not retire. Nevertheless, it is too clear to dispute that he will be able to do a better job if there is no one over him who can give him orders and no one under him to whom he cannot give orders. He is not the ideal man for the job, but he is under the same handicap in his present position that Mr. Donald Nelson was as executive secretary of the SPAB. Clear recognition of who is boss and freedom from restrictions, either personal or official, are what is needed here. The withdrawal of the Mayor will help a lot.

AFTER that occurs—or even before—it would also be a considerable help if the President would clearly define which agency is charged with the duty of promoting civilian morale, and then permit that agency to concentrate and control all activities on those lines. As recently pointed out, the MacLeish Facts and Figures organization is partly charged with the promotion of civilian morale by the executive order creating it, but the OCD was specifically so charged four months earlier. In addition, a variety of smaller agencies have simply assumed that civilian morale is their job, too.

MOST of the multitudinous press bureaus and publicity divisions which clutter up the Washington scene look upon themselves as civilian morale instruments. They have their own ideas and go it alone in their own selected directions, unrestrained—so far—by either OFF or OCD. The result, of course, is conflict and confusion. This civilian morale business is important and it is being managed in a scram-

by ERICH BRANDEIS

Browsing through my bookshelves the other day I came across an old schoolbook, marked with my name and the year 1920.

In it I found a yellowed piece of paper on which I had scribbled a few suggestions for essays to be written.

Here are the titles: "The Transformation of My Ideals", "Is Democracy Degenerating", "What Goes Against My Grain and Why", "My Friends and Why I Like Them", "The Survival of the Fittest", "How Women's Movement Toward Masculine Pursuit Is Killing Chivalry in Men", "In Defense of Peter Pan and Eternal Youth', "Paddle Your Own Canoe", "The Joys of the Poor".

Pretty weighty subjects those, but they didn't faze me. I was not hampered by knowledge and experience.

How wonderful it would be if the text book of life could be written by the ideals of youth rather than the experience of age!

Bible Thought For Today

MISS NORMA THATCHER TO WED GEORGE BIDDLE

As a medium of announcing the engagement of her daughter, Norma Thatcher, to George Biddle, of New Castle, R. D. 6, Mrs. John Thatcher of South Lee avenue entertained at her home Wednesday evening for a gathering of forty friends. She was assisted by Mrs. Joseph Perkins.

The time was spent informally with games, the prizes going to Miss Alberta Anker, Mrs. Sue McGary, Mrs. Nicholas Raymond and Mrs. H. J. Kenehan.

During the evening, the news was cleverly revealed in the lunch favors, which were suggestive of St. Valentine's Day. Concealed in miniature hearts were the names "Norma and George—February 14, 1942." Aiding with the menu, the hostesses had Mrs. Frank Minskey.

Climaxing festivities, the honored couple was presented with an array of many beautiful and serviceable gifts of a miscellaneous nature.

L. T. D. Club Meeting

Mrs. James Dart of East Washington street entertained for the L. T. D. club Wednesday evening at her residence. In the featured contests, Mary Lewis and Mrs. James Waldo were the fortunate prizewinners.

Lunch was served at a chosen hour by the hostess, with Betty Lou Orr and Patricia Chapman aides.

On February 11 Miss Orr of Ryan avenue will entertain.

ALCANZA KENSINGTON WEDNESDAY EVENING

Mrs. C. F. Flannery was hostess to members of the Alcanza kensington at her home on North Mercer street Wednesday evening.

The evening was spent with chat and knitting as the diversions. And plans were made to celebrate the kensington's anniversary on February 25 at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Thompson on East Lutton street.

In serving a lunch later in the evening, the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Frank Mansfield.

Social Merry Makers.

Mrs. Charles Santello received the Social Merry Makers club, Wednesday evening at her residence, 9 West Home street.

Games were played, the prize going to Mrs. Rose Venditto. Special guest was Mrs. Julia Nero, and she was honored on her wedding anniversary.

A tasty lunch was served by the hostess, and assisting in serving were her daughters, Margerite and Mary Lou.

February 11, is the date for the next meeting with Mrs. James Galucci, South Jefferson street.

Modern Maidens Club.

Miss Christine Flamino received the Modern Maidens club, Wednesday evening in her home, Neal street. The birthday of Teresa Flamino was honored. A hankie shower was held during the evening, honoring the hostess.

Games and dancing were pastimes. The door trophy was won by Margaret Flamino and the card prize by Agnes Demofonte. A dainty lunch was served later.

February 11, is the date for the next meeting with Agnes Demofonte, of Friendship street.

Buone Ameci Club.

Mrs. Rose Passarette entertained the Buone Ameci club, Wednesday evening at a delicious ravioli supper held in her home, 814 South Mercer street.

Assisting the hostess in serving were Mrs. Eleanor Bassano and Mrs. Carrie Sands.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Frank Sands, of South Mercer street, on February 4.

E. S. 500 Club

Members of the E. S. 500 club, were received Wednesday evening for a social time at the home of Mrs. Alice Clappie on Spruce street. The time was devoted to cards, with Mrs. L. W. Houk and Mrs. Paul Jones winning the prizes.

After a social period, plans were made to meet February 11 with Mrs. G. B. Hoagland of Temple avenue.

1907 Club

On Wednesday evening the 1907 club met with Mrs. John Logue, Boroline street.

With tables of 500 in play, Mrs. Josephine Locke and Mrs. George Woodring had high scores.

Greta Logue assisted her mother in serving.

February 11, Mrs. Mary Geddes of Huron avenue will be hostess to the club.

Castlette Club

The Castlette club met with Mrs. Ernest Gillest of Harrison street on Wednesday evening.

Prizes in the evening's games were won by Mrs. J. DiNucco and Jessie Scialo. The latter, a sister of the hostess, aided in serving refreshments.

In two weeks Mrs. Frances DiLillo of Division street will have the club.

M. and M. Club

Members of the M. and M. club were entertained in the home of Miss Charlotte Cameron on South Mill street Wednesday evening.

Defense stamps as card prizes were awarded to Miss Margaret Orres and Miss Kathryn Norris.

The hostess served a lunch later in the evening.

Next meeting will be in two weeks.

Clayton-Bashor

Mrs. Edna L. Clayton of 114 Quest street, announces the engagement of her daughter, Betty Clayton, to George Bashor, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Childers of 1107 Wilmington avenue.

No date has been set for the wedding. Mr. Bashor is now employed at Meadville, Pa.

M. L. Club Revived

Meeting again after a period of inactivity, the M. L. club met on Wednesday evening with Mrs. Nancy Veri of Williams street.

Following election of officers, 500 awards were won by Mrs. Theresa DiNucci and Mrs. Theresa DiCica.

Mrs. Clara Ciselli will have the club in two weeks.

Landlords Are Given Warning

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—The office of price administration figuratively waved a big stick at Pittsburgh landlords today, and let them know in advance that the "ample provisions" of the pending price control act would be invoked unless they voluntarily held rents at current levels.

As complaints of "unjustified" increases, to become effective on May 1st, flooded the local offices of the fair rent committee, Attorney Morris Zimmerman, counsel for the group, made public a letter he had received from Washington containing the implied warning.

The letter expressed hope that forced action would not be necessary, but pointed out that "the pending price control act contains ample provisions for statutory action in those cases where fair rent committees have proved ineffective."

In Religious and Fraternal Circles

Class Elects Officers

Members of the Johanson-Powell Bible class of the Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street, met Tuesday evening in the home of Jess McCann, Sheridan avenue. The meeting was in the form of an election of officers. Girls Form Club At Which Sole Business Is Talk

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND—What do women like to do best of all when they meet? Talk—about everything in general and nothing in particular—that is their favorite recreation. And that is just what the sorority sisters of the "Girls' Friday club" do when they meet for two hours each Friday night.

The organization, result of a suggestion made by Walter Winchell, is composed of about 200 secretaries and holds "fun" meetings which are intended as an antidote for the all-work-and no-play xistence.

The members gather to talk about the tired business men who pay their salaries, sip cocktails, criticize each other's clothes, and generally let down their hair. No one mentions such unpleasant things as dictation, notebooks or typewriters.

Holding meetings of this kind is great fun and there is talk now of making the club a national organization.

Marines Still Holding Midway Island For U.S.

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIGE
U. S. Marine Corps, Retired
Written Especially for International News Service

The story of the attempted Japanese surprise attack on the marine defensive outposts at Midway Island highlights the history and development of this famous corps of American fighting men. Since the first marines were authorized by Continental Congress, 167 years ago, the sea soldiers have specialized in amphibious warfare, especially landing from ships to attack or defend island stronghoids.

Probably they are more expert at this kind of fighting than any other military body in the world, and amphibious war is the kind that seems certain to predominate in the present world struggle for a long time to come.

In view of the marines' historic background of training in the particular kind of war that is being fought and prepared for in the Atlantic and Pacific, there can be no doubt the many other leather-neck garrisons, besides those which have won fame at Wake and Midway, are already stationed on scattered ocean outposts, ready to repel Axis attackers.

There can be little doubt also, that when the time comes for the beginning of an offensive movement by the forces of the united nations, marine ambhibious divisions, especially trained to cooperate with the navy in ship-to-shore drives, will form an important part of the spearhead of the attack.

According to the navy department announcement, the first attack on Midway came, like that on Wake, on December 7, the day of the stab in the back assault on Pearl Harbor. As was the case at Wake, there was no surprise. When the Japanese appeared, the Marines were standing at their guns, ready to give them a hot welcome.

Unlike Wake, there was no advance airplane bombardment at Midway. Apparently, the Mikado's navy could not spare an airplane carrier, and the distances from Japanese bases in the Marshall Islands was too great for land bombers or land-based seaplanes. The Midway attack seems to have been strictly a gamble by a small Nipponese force in hope of catching the Marine garrison asleep at the switch.

As it turned out, it was the Japanese who were surprised and fell into the trap. Taking advantage of a moonlit night, a cruiser and a destroyer steamed stealthily toward the Midway harbor. Not a sign of life appeared on the island until they had reached a range of 4,500 yards.

Then a coast-defense searchlight caught them in its flood of illumination and a hell of artillery fire broke loose. Forty-five hundred yards is almost exactly two and a half miles, point-blank range for the Marine's five-inch guns.

The Japanese ships were repeatedly hit by 50-pound shells and limped away. Their return fire quickly blasted the searchlight, but not before they had received a severe mauling. Two men of the garrison were killed and several, apparently, were wounded.

One of those killed was Lieutenant George Cannon, who, although mortally hurt, continued to direct the fire of his guns until he died from loss of blood. Wounded was Corporal Harold R. Hazelwood, who, although suffering from a compound fracture of the leg, reset his fire-control board and continued to operate. This is the sort of conduct to be expected from members of the organization that produced Captain Lloyd Williams, who said "Retreat, hell!" at Belleau Wood and Major Devereux, who signalled "send us more Japs" at Wake.

Unquestionably, the organization that gave the Japs such a sharp lesson at Midway and is still holding that island, was one of the defense battalions, celebrated in the tactical development of the Marine Corps. These normally comprise about 1,000 men, armed with infantry weapons, three-inch anti-aircraft cannon and five-inch coast defense guns.

Defense battalions and ship-to-shore offensive organizations have been intensively studied by Marine Corps tactical experts for more than 20 years in modern war. Long before that, these modes of overseas attack and defense were Marine specialities, beginning in 1776, when Continental Marines, making the first ship-to-shore attack in American history, captured New Providence, in the Bahamas, winning invaluable munitions and supplies for Washington's hard-pressed army.

Statements and opinions herein are private to the writer and are not to be construed as reflecting the views of the navy department.

Arrest Three On Espionage Charge

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—Accused of sending valuable military information to Germany, three persons, arrested in swank residential sections of Beverly Hills, were jailed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation early today.

Under arrest are: Dr. Hans Helmut Gros, 34, Minneapolis-born physician; his wife, Mrs. Frances Goellert Gros, 31, an artist-cartoonist at a Hollywood film studio, and Albercha Rudolf Cur Reuter, 56, wealthy art collector and rug importer.

They were booked on charges of conspiracy to violate the federal espionage statute and held under $5,000 bail, pending their arraignment today.

Mass Funeral Being Planned For 34 Miners

(International News Service)

MOUNT HARRIS, Colo., Jan. 29.—The impact of sudden death weighed heavily over northern Colorado's mountain coal district today as plans were made for a mass funeral of the 34 men killed in the state's greatest mining disaster in 25 years.

The blackened, torn bodies of the men trapped when highly explosive "firedamp" was touched off more than a mile underground in the Wadge mine of the Victor American Fuel company late Tuesday night lay in orderly rows inside hastily-improvised morgues.

A coroner's inquest was called to write into the records the cause of the blast which trapped all but four of 38 workmen inside the mine. The others, at a higher level, were able to escape after hearing a "dull thud" which shook the workings.

The town hall and lone motion picture theater in this tiny mining village in the Rockies were converted into morgues around which relatives and friends gathered to identify the victims.

Meanwhile, investigators disclosed that the death toll would have been doubled if the blast had occurred 15 minutes later. A new night shift was preparing to enter the diggings when the four miners who escaped reached the surface and sounded an alarm.

Even Czech Cows Aid Anti - Nazi Sabotage Drive

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Jan. 29.—Jan Masaryk, pre-Hitler vice premier and foreign minister of Czechoslovakia, stuck his tongue into his cheek, and then began to talk about sabotage within his native land.

"Even the cows cooperate. The Germans have provide statistically that Czech cows give very much less milk than German cows. How odd."

About the Skoda Munition Works: "I have urged the workers to slow down. If they can waste only two minutes every hour the waste will pile up incredibly, and they waste many more than two minutes. The slowdown is the most effective form of sabotage and most difficult to detect."

And he added:

"Our railroad men, also, are doing a magnificent job. It is a curious thing how often freight cars sent into my country turn up at the wrong destination, how goods sent north somehow manage to go south, how many cars spilt switches, how many delays there can be."

Masaryk speaks via short-wave weekly in a broadcast beamed at Czechoslovakia.

TIME CLOCKS FOILS THIEF
(International News Service)

DALLAS, Tex.—There are more ways to use a time clock than to punch one, Night Watchman C. M. Peek has discovered. When a negro jammed a gun in Peek's ribs to hold him up, Peek threw the time clock in his assailant's face. The would-be holdup man was so surprised he lost his gun and ran.

Seek 30,000 New Flyers In Year

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Disclosing that unified aerial commands are already operating, Secretary of War Stimson today announced important changes in the army's air force commands and establishment of a new pilot training project to turn out 30,000 flyers, observers and navigators during the next 12 months.

The war department, he said, has assigned Maj. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, of San Francisco, Calif., as chief of the air staff of the army air force with headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Harmon, commanding general of the second air force, with headquarters at Fort George Wright, Washington, has been temporary acting chief of the air force combat command since the assignment of Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons to duty as commanding general of the Hawaiian department.

Pennsylvania's Dutch Have More Autos Than Sons

Studies Of Reurbanization Reveal Some Interesting Sidelights

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 29.—The tendency among families in a typical Pennsylvania Dutch community in northern Lancaster county is to have one more automobile than the family has grown sons.

The parents in more than two-thirds of the families in this same community can speak Pennsylvania Dutch but children in less than one-third of those families barely understand the dialect.

These are highlights in a study of reurbanization just completed by Richard Bromer, sociology student at Franklin and Marshall college and a senior member of the class taught by Dr. Jerry A. Neprash, head of the department. The locale was Brickerville in the central part of Elizabeth township in the northern part of Lancaster county and midway between the cities of Lancaster and Lebanon.

Using a questionnaire which aimed to develop the tendency of city and country persons to assimilate the characteristics of each, Bromer interviewed persons living in the Pennsylvania Dutch settlement and concluded that automobiles, hard surfaced roads and radio are the principal factors in reurbanization.

and there was considerable hopefulness that it could be accomplished. This time I don't believe that there's much such hopefulness.

Anyhow, it surely wont be attempted by the same method as the one we and some of the other powers experimented with in the 1920's.

The idea then was all-around disarmament.

Its advocates meant exceedingly well. Their theory was that the nations not only wouldn't but couldn't fight if they hadn't any equipment to fight with.

Knives And Pitchforks

A very small scattering of statesmen argued that they always would be able to scare up carving knives and pitchforks for warlike purposes, if they felt like fighting—that disarmament wouldn't do the business; that the only correct system was to cure them of the desire to take the warpath.

The odd thing was that the genuine pacifists were the ones who didn't think that disarmament alone would cure them.

They didn't, though, suggest any convincing - sounding, alternative remedy for the disease, so the inherently pugnacious outfit administered theirs — the disarmament dose. And look how it's worked!

Of course, one difficulty was that the Axis bunch of today didn't take the disarmament dope that was prescribed for them. They armed by bootleggery while the democracies honestly were laying off the stuff. It wasn't a case of total abstinence by all concerned, but that can't be absolutely guaranteed, apparently.

Among the reasons why future peace preachments don't take well at the current juncture is this one:

There hasn't been a sufficient interval, between World Wars I and II, for folk to have forgotten No. 1's lessons. Some of us have grown up in the meantime, but a great many of us remember our 1914-18 education and grasp the futility of our effort of the 1920's to prevent a 1939-and later repetition of the 1914-18 course of instruction.

Cats, monkeys and other animals have tear ducts for the purpose of protecting their eyes, the same as humans.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Some Survivors Of Torpedoed Ship Alive On Islands

Given Up For Lost Some Of Crew Of Freighter Sunk In Pacific, December 18 Found

(International News Service)

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 29—Long given up for dead by family and friends, several additional members of the crew of the 7,000-ton freighter S. S. Prusa, torpedoed and sunk in the Pacific last December 18, have been located on an island, according to word received here today.

The good news came to J. George Stewart, former U. S. Representative from Delaware, in the form of a telegram from the Tampa interocean steamship company. The terse message advised Stewart that his son, Frank H. Stewart, 29, together with several other survivors have been found safe.

Stewart, who at one-time was boxing commissioner for the state of Delaware, disclosed he also had heard through private channels that his son had been rescued. He added that arrangements were being made to bring the survivors back to this country.

The Prusa carried a crew of 34, nine of whom were killed when the torpedo struck the crew's sleeping quarters. Thirteen survivors were picked up by a coast guard cutter and landed at Honolulu after 10 harrowing days at sea in an open lifeboat.

At that time, the survivors said they saw Captain G. H. Boy and 11 others in a lifeboat shortly after the torpedoing, but hadn't seen them again during the 10 days they spent in the open boat.

The telegram received by Stewart did not state whether all 12 in the second lifeboat have now been found.

bled and ineffectual way. It needs to be concentrated and coordinated. One thing that might be done advantageously, is the elimination of most of the press agents and publicity directors, whose name is legion and whose cost is altogether out of proportion to their worth. An instance of the ability of a public service to get along without them was given here the other day in the Donovan organization. An even better one is the Interstate Commerce Commission, which in its fifty years of existence has never had anything resembling a press agent or publicity man.

BIRTHDAYS of FAMOUS AMERICANS

(Compiled by Encyclopaedia Britannica)

JANUARY 29

1756 — Henry (Lighthorse Harry) Lee, general in the Continental Army, near Dumfries, Va. He was a delegate to the Confederation Congress, served in Congress, and was Governor of Virginia. He delivered the address on the death of Washington which contained the famous phrase, "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

1761 — Albert Gallatin, statesman, at Geneva Switzerland. As a member of the House of Representatives he organized what is now the ways and means committee. Thomas Jefferson appointed him Secretary of the Treasury, a post he held for 12 years. In that period he revised the financial system and reduced the national debt. He served as an American delegate at the Ghent peace conference and was minister to France and England.

1843—William McKinley, 25th President of the United States, at Niles, O. Prior to his election as president he was U. S. Senator and governor of Ohio. Early in his second term President McKinley was shot by an assassin in the Pan-American Exposition grounds at Buffalo.

Nazi High Command Sought To Use Stolen Jewelry In U. S. Plot

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—An amazing and sinister plot whereby the Nazi high command sought to finance enemy subversive actviities in the United States and South America through conversion of a king's ransom in gems stolen by the German army of occupation in Holland and Belgium was disclosed today.

The disclosure came with the handing up of a federal indictment naming members of the German high command and their agents in New York City as participants in the conspiracy to dispose of the spoils of war in the United States.

This plunder was the millions of dollars worth of diamonds confiscated in Belgium and The Netherlands by German troops in the spring of 1940.

The indictment does not reveal purpose to which money realized from the sale of the loot was to be put, but federal investigators believe that it was destined for the German high command, and thence into a fund to be used to finance subversive activities in the United States and South America.

Have $100,000 Worth

Treasury agents now have in their possession $100,000 worth of diamonds allegedly shipped from Germany to the Pioneer Import Corporation, a defendant, and assertedly have traced to this defendant the sale of an additional $50,000 worth shipped to New York from the same source.

The corporation was denounced last May by the British Minister of Economic Warfare, Dr. Hugh Dalton, as one of the principal blockade breakers in the United States. Federal agents said that at that time the corporation's business was limited ostensibly to the legal importation of synthetic and semi-precious stones from Germany.

Other defendants are:

Werner Von Clemm of Syosset, L. I., president of the Pioneer Corporation, and a cousin of the wife of German Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop. Von Clemm, who was born in Germany, came to the United States in 1922, and later was naturalized. Federal authorities say he was formerly an associate of W. R. Davis, originator of the German-Mexican Oil Barter plan. Von Clemm, too, was denounced last May by the British ministry as a blockade breaker.

Carl Von Clemm, Werner's twin brother, now a German emissary in Italy, who superintended the management of his brother's European interests. Formerly he allegedly acted as European manager of the W. R. Davis enterprises in the disposal of oil received from Mexico.

Ernst Cremer, manager of the diamond control office, a regulative body established by the Nazi in the low countries following their occupation by units fo the German army.

Carlos Hoepner, who was European vice-president of Pioneer and is now believed to be in Germany.

Co-Conspirators

Named as co-conspirators, but not defendants, are "persons constituting the high command of the German army;" members and partners of the International Mortgage Handelsgesellschaft G. M. B. H., European purchasing agent for the Pioneer Import Corporation, and "persons constituting the diamond control office of the German army in Antwrep."

The indictment charges a conspiracy alleged to have begun on May 10, 1940, and to have continued up to the present. The conspiracy allegedly was:

"1. To violate an order signed by the president of the United States, following German occupation of the lowlands, prohibiting payments involving properties in which Belgian or Dutch nationals had an interest.

"2. To make false statements by asserting on invoices that the diamonds had been manufactured or cut in Germany.

"3. To violate the customs law by attempting to enter and introduce in the commerce of the United States merchandise brought here on fraudulent declarations."

The success of the conspiracy, U. S. Attorney Mathias F. Correa revealed, depended to a large extent upon the ability of the plotters to conceal the source of the diamonds.

Court House Dome Proving Problem

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Jan. 29.—The white dome of the court house which has been Mercer's most outstanding landmark for years, probably will be a thing of the past by next summer.

The commissioners announce that plans are being considered to have the terra cotta covering on the dome replaced with lead or a metal roofing.

Continual patching of the recent dome has been necessary during the recent years and has failed to stop leaks, the commissioners said. In addition, several of the terra cotta tile have worked loose and fallen to the roof of the main part of the building, near the large skylights of the two court rooms, thus causing a hazard.

The commissioners said it may be possible to paint the new metal covering white.

Defense Council In Mercer County Naming Delayed

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Jan. 29.—Appointment of a Mercer county defense council was postponed by the county commissioners, today, following a conference at the court house in Mercer, attended by only three of a committee of nine community leaders who were to act with the commissioners in selection of the council.

President James L. Bailey said another meeting will be held later this week, when consideration of appointments will be continued.

Several of those who were unable to attend the conference today mailed their recommendations for the appointments. However, only Commissioners Bailey and D. K. Callahan, Burgess F. W. Elliott, Mercer; Stephen Hoelzle, Wheatland, and M. S. Blair, Greenville, were present.

Prison Population Lower In State

Welfare Secretary Sweeny Gives Report On Crime Situation In Pennsylvania

By JOHN PAGET
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—Pennsylvania's contribution to the nation's armed forces is just beginning to be reflected in a reduction of the state's prison population, Welfare Secretary E. Arthur Sweeny said today.

"Crime remains in the same proportion to civilian population," he declared, "but the reason the prison populations have declined is because so many men between the ages of 21 and 28—the so-called age range of potential criminals—are in the army.

"I do not want to leave the impression that men inducted into the army are potential criminals. But it is a fact that with expansion of the army for war, there has followed a decline in prison admissions."

Sweeny said that the state population in the six penal institutions in the state, January 26, was 7,519 while on June 1, 1940, the peak of the prison population, the total was 7,795. He said that further reductions were anticipated while the war continued. The latest reports from prison officials list the following populations: Eastern State penitentiary, 3,165; Western State penitentiary, 2,105; Morganza Training School, 622; Huntingdon School for Defective Delinquents, 519; Pennsylvania Industrial Training School at White Hill, 787, and the State Industrial Home for Women at Muncy, 321.

EDENBURG

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Leeper and family of New Castle were callers at the home of I. S. Leeper of the Edenburg-Mt. Jackson road.

Private Paul Smith of Fort Knox, Kentucky, was a recent visitor at the home of his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Peterson, of Crawford avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lamm of Youngstown, O., visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Schock Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Felger and children of the Edenburg-Mt. Jackson road were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stacey of New Middletown, O.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Usselton and children and Mrs. Delia Yates were Saturday shoppers at New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lease and Mrs. Martin Lease of Baden, Pa., were Saturday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schock.

Robert Morrison of Connellsville, Pa., spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison of the North Side. The condition of Mr. Morrison, who has been ill for some time, remains the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reynolds and family of New Castle visited at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Peterson of Crawford avenue Sunday afternoon.

Short Technical Courses Offered

Penn State College Offers Training For Special War Industry Posts

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 29.—Fifteen-week technical courses planned to train young men with some engineering experience for special posts in war industries will begin at the Pennsylvania State College on February 16.

Applications are now benig received for enrollment in both the "materials testing and inspection" and "production engineering" courses. They will run concurrently and will be repeated beginning on June 15.

This work is being administered by the U. S. office of education as part of the engineering, science, and management defense training program, and is designed principally to relieve shortages of technical personnel in war-time industrial work and the military services.

NATION-WIDE SERVICE GROCERS

U. S. To Enforce Auto Stamp Tax

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—Federal authorities took responsibility today for enforcement of the auto use tax but asked co-operation of state and local police in reporting violators.

The tax effective February 1 imposes an annual $5 levy on each automobile. Stickers, costing $2.09 are now being sold at postoffices, good until June 30, when they must be replaced by a yearly sticker.

TWO FIRES WEDNESDAY

Firemen were called out by two alarms Wednesday afternoon and evening for small fires.

At 4:35 o'clock a short occurred in the wiring in the glove compartment of an auto owned by Joe Nocera of 105 Atlantic avenue.

At 9:15 o'clock William Dukes, proprietor of a gasoline station at the corner of South Mercer and South streets, was cleaning the floor of the grease room with kerosene oil, when the fumes ignited from a coal stove, setting fire to the mop and bucket containing the oil. Damage of around $5 resulted. Mr. Dukes managed to escape in safety.

CHANGE PRICES TO AVOID MAKING CHANGE

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—In order to eliminate the process of making change in pennies, the Philadelphia zoo has lowered the price of admission to children and raised it for adults.

Admission for children was lowered from 17 to 15 cents each, while the charge to adults was increased from 28 to 30 cents apiece. The former prices were fixed at the odd figures because of the defense taxes and much time was consumed in making change.

Pennsylvanians Lauded For Part They Played In Heroic Action In Pacific

SERGEANT KEPT PLANES IN AIR

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—The technical skill and bravery of two Pennsylvanians was of material assistance in the long and heroic defense of tiny Wake island, the Navy department in Washington reported recently.

It was from the day-to-day notes of Major Walter L. J. Baylor, a native of Lebanon, that the Navy department was able to piece together the story of the valient little band of marines who kept the might of Japan at bay for weeks on end and wrote another chapter in the nation's history.

Technical Sergeant William James Hamilton, of South Larchmont, was praised by his commanding officer, Major Paul A. Putnam, for his help in keeping the small force of fighting planes in the air. Major Putnam wrote:

"I particularly wish to comment on his indefatigable labor, and ingenuity, skill and technical knowledge. It is solely due to this effort that the squadron is still able to operate."

Major Baylor, graduated from the Naval Academy in 1927, had previously served as a company officer at Nicaragua.

Sergeant Hamilton was born in Altoona in 1912 and attended high school there. He had served in the army from 1930 to 1934.

Major Baylor's day-to-day notes were flown from the island a few days before it was forced to surrender.

Your Federal Income Tax

NO. 22
INCOME OF FARMERS

Farmers, which include livestock raisers, fruit and truck growers, poultry raisers, and operators of plantations and ranches, are liable for federal income tax returns provided their income is sufficient to require the filing of returns. Primarily, due to the reduction in the credit for personal exemption, many farmers will be liable for returns and to the tax for the first time for the year 1941.

Farmers may maintain their records and file their returns of income on either the cash receipts and disbursements basis or on the accrual basis of accounting. A consistent method must, however, be employed. If a cash basis is used, Form 1040F, "Schedule of Farm Income and Expenses," is required to be filled out and filed in conjunction with Form 1040. Use of Form 1040F is optional in the case of farmers who report income on the accrual basis. A farmer who reports income on the cash receipts and disbursements basis (in which no inventories to determine profits are used must include in gross income for the taxable year (1) the amount of cash or the value of merchandise or other property received during the taxable year from the sale of livestock or produce which were raised, regardless of when raised; (2) the profits from the sale of any livestock or other items which were purchased; and (3) gross income from all other sources.

Under the accrual basis in which inventories are used to determine the profits, farmers' gross profits are ascertained by adding to the inventory value of livestock and produce on hand at the end of the year the amount received from the sale of livestock and produce, and miscellaneous receipts of income during the year, and deducting from this sum the inventory value of livestock and produce on hand at the beginning of the year and the cost of livestock and produce purchased during the year. All livestock, whether purchased or raised, must be included in inventory at their proper valuation. Livetock acquired for draft, breeding, or dairy purposes and not for sale, may be included in the inventory instead of being treated as capital assets subject to depreciation provided such practice is consistently followed.

If farm produce is exchange for merchandise, groceries, or the like, the market value of the articles received in exchange is to be included in gross income. The value of farm products which are produced by a farmer and consumed by his family does not constitute taxable income. Rents received in crop shares are to be returned as income as of the year in which the crop shares are reduced to money or the equivalent of money. Proceeds of insurance, such as hail and fire insurance on growing crops, are required to be included in gross income.

Amounts received as loans from the Commodity Credit Corporation may, at the option of the taxpayers, be considered as income and included in gross income for the taxable year in which received. The election made with respect to the calendar year 1939, or for the first year thereafter for which a return is required to be filed, is binding for all subsequent years unless the commissioner approves a change to a different method of accounting. Amounts received under the soil conservation and domestic allotment act, as amended, the price adjustment Act of 1938, section 303 of the agricultural adjustment act, as amended and the sugar act of 1937 constitute taxable income to the recipients for federal income tax purposes.

New Wilmington News

TO MEET TUESDAY

The Happy Hour society of the Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. George W. Chapin, Tuesday evening, Feb. 3, with Mrs. Clyde Monroe and Mrs. Leo Plotts associate hostesses. Mrs. J. W. Hartwell will lead devotions, Mrs. E. B. Reed will lead the mission study and Mrs. James Seley has charge of entertainment.

WIN AWARDS

Sally Jean Hart, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Hugh M. Hart, won first prize of $4 in district 1 (west) of class 56, of the 4-H competition held last week in Harrisburg. The prize was for a one-piece school dress which Miss Hart submitted.

Winner of second prize in the slip division was Alice Frew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Frew. Mary Edith Kerr, daughter of Mr. and W. O. Kerr, won fourth prize in the same division.

Attending the farm shows held in Harrisburg last week were Jacob Baumgardner, Ralph Kyle, Richard Moose and Roscoe Cox.

VICTORY DINNER

The New Wilmington Methodist church will have a "victory dinner Thursday, February 5, in celebration of the successful conclusion of the drive to raise funds for an organ.

The speaker will be Dr. Schuyler Garth, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, Youngstown. Invitations are being sent to all members of the congregation.

Delivery of the new organ, which is a Hammond electric organ, is set for March 1, and installation is expected to be completed before Easter.

GRANGE PARTY

Plans are being made by Wilmington Grange officials for a Valentine party, ot be held February 10. This party is for members of both the juvenile and senior granges.

A routine business meeting and an open forum discussion of plans for the year comprised the program of the regular weekly meeting of the grange.

KIWANIS CLUB

At the regular weekly meeting of New Wilmington's Kiwanis club, Dean Gilbert, Westminster college student, spoke on "Postal Service and Its Relation to Business". A business meeting was also held.

Dr. Leon Marshall, who will shortly leave for California, turned in his resignation from the board of directors of Kiwanis.

Excellent attendance by Kiwanians at the first of a series of "Go-to-Church" Sundays scheduled for the club was reported.

ROTARY MEETING

A program observing the 31st anniversary of the "Rotarian", the magazine published by Rotary International, was held at the last regular meeting of New Wilmington's Rotary club. Dean Maxwell R. Kelso of Westminster college spoke on the history and accomplishments of the "Rotarian", which he said was unlike most other organizational publications because of the fact that it does not devote itself completely to news concerning its particular organization, but contains articles of national and worldwide interest.

BOWLING LEAGUE

The first half of the New Wilmington bowling league has just been completed, with the Post Office team winning, the mailmen having compiled a record of 18 wins and 9 losses, for a .667 mark. The Kiwanians were second, the College team third and the Rotarians last. Sferra of the Post Office team had the highest individual average, 181

RETIRES AS LETTER CARRIER

A program honoring William ("Billy") Wilson, who is retiring after 24 years in the mail service, was given recently by residents of New Wilmington R. D. No. 1, whom Mr. Wilson has served as mail carrier for years.

Held in the Wilmington Grange hall, the program was presided over by Lawrence Mitcheltree. Singing was led by Marian Thompson and instrumental selections were performed by Wendell Wilson, George Garrett and Marie Garrett. A duet A duet was sung by Marian and Frances Thompson.

Mr. Wilson was presented with a billfold containing $100. The presentation was made by Dorris Fulkman. After the program, games and refreshments were enjoyed.

AMERICAN-RUSSIAN GROUP BUYS BONDS

At a meeting of the American-Russian Citizens club, this week, members of the club of which Jacob Tkachuk is president, voted to purchase $700 worth of defense bonds, which transaction was completed by trustees of the club on Wednesday.

American Soldiers In Northern Ireland Settle Down To Camp Routine

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WITH AMERICAN FORCES AT A BASE CAMP IN NORTHERN IRELAND, Jan. 29.—"Shake a leg there, Buddy!"

"Come and get it!"

"Whaddya think this is, a picnic?"

The chopped army slang of Dix, Upton and Bragg rang unfamiliarly across the sod of northern Ireland Wednesday as the A. E. F. in the British Isles settled down to camp routine.

The base is working out to what it was expected to be—a spot of America in a foreign land. Nothing is being done differently here just because the boys are abroad, and it's a safe bet among those who know how Americans do things that in no time at all northern Ireland shopkeepers will be calling a shilling piece "two bits" and sixpence a dime.

Get Up In Dark

The bugles snarled "you can't get 'em up" at 5:30 sharp Wednesday morning, and 5:30 a. m. of a late January morning in northern Ireland is pretty dark. But the Yanks swung out in well disciplined style and the morning military routine made it apparent that less than 48 hours after their arrival they had found their land-legs and their camp duties.

Into scores of huts went the noncoms translating into slang the curt tones of reville and the men poured out to welcome hot showers and pre-breakfast chores. Then a good solid breakfast and the duties of the day.

These were in sharp contrast with Tuesday, when the boys were allowed to take things easy, writing letters and endearing themselves in no time at all to the Irish colleens in the vicinity, just as their dads did with Mlle. from Armentieres and her girl friends in France a generation ago.

The day was spent in learning a thorough and first-hand acquaintance with all camp routine. Various squads were assigned to various duties and everyone was told just how and where daily drills would be executed. They no longer had to be told why.

Mail Is Heavy

The new arrivals learned when the bugle cackled Wednesday morning that Tuesday was too good to last. British Tommies waited on them Tuesday and made their beds and those who wanted to lay abed until 11 a. m.

The camp post office bulged today with letters and post-cards addressed to the folks back home in towns from coast to coast and needless to say the replies will be eagerly awaited.

Grouses are few and directed mainly against the weather, which even the loyal Irish admit is plain and simple "lousy". Also there were one or two unfortunate experiences with regard to English-style cooking, common to almost every American who discovers for the first time in his life that the British staple is sprouts and potatoes, varied now and then by potatoes and sprouts.

I went through row after row of billet to see how the Yanks were shaping up into the fine fighting force it is certain to be. All packs were neatly rolled, cots carefully made, extra shoes shined, socks in order. And over every bed was a picture—usually that of a sweetheart, wife or mother, but every now and then for aren't we Americans), the glamorized head, shoulders and balance of a movie star.

It's a fine army.

The sons of their f thers.

NEW AUSTRALIAN ATTACKS ARE MADE IN RABAUL HARBOR

"static" and that activity on both sides was confined to aerial reconnaissance.

On New Britain Island, thec ommunique said, the position remained "obscure."

(An Australian radio broadcast heard by NBC said that enemy aliens interned in Australia are being released to relieve the acute labor shortage.

(The broadcast said 300 enemy aliens have been set free and assigned to work for the dried fruit industry and that the only restrictions imposed on them are that they report to authorities from time to time. It added Australia faced loss of her dried fruit crop if labor was not found immediately to harvest the fruit.)

No further news has been received from Rabaul, key seaport on New Britain Island, since the Japanese attacked in force on Tuesday, Deputy Prime Minister Francis Forde said.

No New Information

(On Tuesday it was announced that Australian air force planes had set afire two Japanese ships in the harbor.)

Every effort has been made to get information as to the fate of Rabaul, without avail, said Minister Forde.

Meanwhile, Australian officials took steps to give immediate effect to the Anglo-American decision to establish Pacific war councils in London and Washington.

Prime Minister John Curtin conferred from Perth by telephone with senior ministers in Melbourne regarding appointments to the British and United States capitals.

It was reported that R. G. Casey, envoy to Washington, will represent Australia there while Sir Earle Page, now on a mission to London, will remain there as Australian representative in Britain.

When permanent appointees are selected, they probably will be transferred between London, Washington and Canberra from time to time, it was said.

CHURCHILL GETS OVERWHELMING CONFIDENCE VOTE

cordance with what he thinks the duty of his heart and conscience."

The sole dissenting vote came from James Maxton, leader of the three-man independent labor party in the House.

His two colleagues, John McGovern and Campbell Stephen, wanted to join him. But parliamentary procedure demands that each party must have two tellers on a confidence motion. McGovern and Stephen had to serve in this capacity, so shaggy-haired Maxton voted alone.

There were scenes of enthusiasm when the vote was announced. Churchill rose from his seat on the treasury bench and hurried out of the chamber as members on all sides of the House stood and cheered him.

First Federal Has Annual Meeting

Savings & Loan Shareholders Name Three Directors; Plan Opening

The annual shareholders' meeting of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of New Castle was held last night for the election of three directors and report of activities and accomplishments during 1941.

The year just closing saw the association's assets reach an all time high of almost two and a quarter million dollars. During the period the association placed new loans amounting to better than a half million dollars.

Savings and investing shareholders in the association received a three per cent dividend for the year, which amounted to $53,337.36.

Norman E. Clark, executive vice president of the association, indicated, now that pay rolls are larger, that many borrowers are paying their loans in advance, and savings accounts are being increased weekly; and from his observations, wage earners today are saving more than in the period of World War 1.

The association has been and is actively engaged in the sale of Defense bonds and stamps.

The association plans to occupy its new office building at 25 North Mill street Monday, February 2, with a formal public opening on Friday and Saturday evenings, February 6 and 7.

When questioned regarding 1942 prospects, Clark stated that perhaps home financing would slow up on new construction but on account of the scarcity of available homes for rent that he anticipated an increasingly active market in existing homes, with rising real estate prices and that there would be considerable financing in this type of homes; with industrial activity in high gear, savings would continue to mount during the year, perhaps not at as rapid a rate as in 1941, but much above normal.

Directors elected by the shareholders were Clyde W. Lockhart, Wallace J. Ewing and Norman E. Clark. OOther members of the board are Sam H. McGoun, Harry L. Elder, Andrew Reider, George Hamilton, Carl E. Paisley, Norman Ehrlich and Joseph C. Williams.

Officers of the association elected by the board are Sam H. McGoun, president; Andrew Reider, vice president; Norman E. Clark, executive vice president and secretary; Carl E. Paisley, treasuer; Robert C. Houk, assistant secretary; Roy W. Hazen, solicitor, and Ralph A. Cooper, assistant solicitor.

Employers Warned Regarding Returns

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—Employers liable for contributions to the state unemployment compensation fund were reminded today by Secretary of Labor and Industry Lewis G. Hines that Saturday is the deadline for filing returns without penalties.

The state law requires contributions at the rate of 2.7 per cent of payrolls, excluding wages in excess of $3,000 a year. If these contributions are paid by Saturday, they are credited in full against the 3 per cent federal tax, leaving only a three-tenths of 1 per cent tax to be paid to the federal government. Delinquents, warned Hines, will have to pay both taxes in full.

TWO DESTROYERS SUNK IN BATTLE

were held out that many of the crew members of the Thanet, which was sunk, reached shore safely.

"On the night of Jan. 26," the communique said, "the destroyers Vampire and Thanet intercepted a Japanese force of one cruiser and three destroyers off Endau, Malaya.

"Our destroyer engaged the enemy, who retired, and a running fight ensued. One Japanese destroyer was sunk and a second damaged.

"The Thanet was sunk during the engagement. It is hoped many of the company reached shore. The Vampire was not damaged."

Mother Of Soviet General Resides In Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—"My son is doing the work of a hero," said the white-haired Mrs. Beila Lemberg as she bustled about the kitchen of her home in Philadelphia.

"It is my Josef," she said, "and he is safe and well." Josef's full name is General Josef Lvov, Soviet military leader cited by Premier Stalin for heroism in the battle against the Nazis in the Crimea.

"I saw him last in 1918, after he had been a prisoner of war in the World War," recalled Mrs. Lemberg. "That was in Odessa, and ever since then he has been consistently in the service of the Russian government.

"Until I saw his picture in the paper last year I thought he was dead," said the mother. "After I left Odessa in 1923, I heard from him and from his wife, Rose, from time to time. Lately I have had no news."

Lvov changed his name, his mother revealed, when he entered the Communist party, as did many other Red leaders. Lemberg and Lvov, respectively, are the German and Russian names for a large city in Polish Galicia.

8-Year-Old Boy Goes To Movies Twice Each Day

(International News Service)

FORTH WORTH, Tex.—If all the movie fans were like Joe Northern, Hollywood would have fewer headaches.

Joe, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Northern of Fort Worth, sees a movie every day in the week. On holidays, he changes his routine a little bit. He sees two movies—one in the morning and one in the afternoon. On school days he rides his bicycle over to a neighborhood theater as soon as classes are out.

Does so much movie-going hurt his school work? No, indeed; Joe is an "A" student at the South Hi-Mount school, and doesn't neglect his lessons.

And the kind of pictures he likes best?

"Murder," Joe replies promptly. "I don't like that love stuff."

SINGAPORE MAY NOW BE FORCED EXTENDED SIEGE

march from the narrow straits which separate this island bastion from the Johore mainland.

Some improvement in the situation near Batu Pahat on the west was reported.

But on the east coast fighting was reported at Hulu Sedili, a river area near Danau, 40 miles to the dot from the already-mined causeway which connects Singapore with the mainland.

Fighting Under Way

In this sector, the communique said, imperial troops are in "contact" with the enemy, while fighting is also under way at Layang Layang, a point on the main railway line in the dead center of Malaya even a shorter distance from Singapore.

The communique said:

"Australians carried out a successful action on the east coast front on Jan. 27.

"The enemy was caught between our forward elements and our artillery fire. Enemy casualties are estimated at about 250 and the British at about 30.

"In this area our troops are in contact with the enemy about Hulu Sedili.

Counter-Attack

"Yesterday in the central sector, a company of an Australian battalion successfully counter-attacked the enemy with bayonets. Enemy casualties were estimated at 200 while the British are believed to have suffered no loss.

"In this sector our troops are in contact with the enemy in the Layang Layang area. There was considerable enemy air activity in this area throughout yesterday.

"There is no change to report in the situation in the western sector.

"A further 570 of our troops cut off in the Batu Pahat area now joined our main bodies.

Singapore Raids

"No military damage was caused in yesterday's raids in the Singapore area. A formation of bombers approached Singapore island this morning and was driven off by our fighters, being compelled to jettison its bombs. One enemy was certainly and one other probably destroyed.

"Other formations attacked targets on the island. Reports of casualties and damage have not yet been received."

All civilians and livestock were ordered evacuated from a mile-wide strip of land along Singapore island's northern shore fringing the strait of Johore.

Evacuation of this area bordering Singapore's "moat" is to be completed by Friday noon, military authorities announced.

Simultaneously, Singapore's southern defenses were prepared to deal with a possible Japanese attempt to land troops on the island from the sea in concert with the approach of enemy land forces from the north.

Violent fighting raged along the Johore state battle front after British forces withdrew another 10 miles from Senggarang down to the Rengit area, less than 40 miles northwest of Johore strait. This was accompanied by an attack on Singapore itself yesterday by 27 Japanese bombers.

(A British broadcast heard by CBS last night said another Japanese rail hit Singapore under conditions of bright moonlight and quoted a message which said "there are indications that a big day assault on the city is expected.")

RAIDING AXIS U-BOATS PROWL ALONG COAST

using mines in their campaign of destruction, while from other sources comes speculation of a Nazi submarine "mother boat" in northern Atlantic waters.

May Lay Mines

The same sources state that it is possible that the subs have undertaken a move to lay mines as close to harbor approaches as they dare. It was emphasized that a great many of the Nazi submarines carry special equipment to plant mines.

In the far Pacific, meanwhile, Japan was expected to renew its attacks momentarily upon Gen. Douglas MacArthurs Philippine defenders, following a lull since Sunday, when the invaders were routed in a surprise counter-attack.

Heavy losses suffered by Japan at the hands of united nations forces especially in the Straits of Macassa: were believed by some war experts to have forced the Nipponese to a slower, more cautious pace, but early resumption of large scale attacks was anticipated.

At home the navy carried on with its frequently-announced "effective counter-measures" as reports were received from naval officials at Corpus Christi that a submarine believed to be German had been sighted for the first time in the Gulf of Mexico.

Wide Scope Of Sub Activity

Scope of Axis submarine activity was indicated by advices from San Juan, P. R., disclosing that the steamship Coamo, of the New York-Puerto Rico passenger line had arrived with 71 survivors of the steamship Lady Hawkins, which was torpedoed in the Atlantic with 321 passengers aboard.

Reports of additional raids came on the heels of a navy announcement that one and possible two more American ships had been torpedod. The known victim was the tanker Frances E. Powell.

While reports of widespread U-boat activities off American shores indicated the losses were one-sided, it was recalled that counter measures taken are hidden behind a smoke-screen of official censorship.

Recntly a navy spokesman intimated that several Axis submarines have been sunk since the raids began two weeks ago, but officially the navy department has maintained silence to keep from the enemy information that might prove valuable to him.

Harass Coastal Shipping

As in World War I, purpose of the raids apparently is to harass coastal shipping and possibly distract naval craft from more important convoy work. Those tactics failed when the Kaiser's U-boats sunk 100 ships in American waters in 1918, and naval experts predicted thy would fail again.

In its 80th communique of the war, the army disclosed that eight heavy American bombers had sunk a large Japanese transport in the river at Balik Papan, Borneo, and scored a dirct hit on a cruiser outside the harbor. One American plane was lost.

Previously a similar squadron of bombers had sunk a transport and set another on fire in the same area. The latst victim was believed to have been one of the transports which escaped the smashing Dutch and American naval attack in the Straits of Macassar.

In the same communique, the war department said there was virtually no ground activitiy on Bataan peninsula, still held by MacArthur's forces, but added, significantly, that the invaders still were landing reinforcements in small numbers in the Subic Bay area.

planes or craft at that spot and the bomb caused suspicion that there might have been a second submarine present which fired a bomb as a warning to the craft which was seen. However, no second submarine was sighted."

Captain Bernhard explained that smoke bombs frequently are used by submarines during daylight hours as distress signals.

As a 100-mile strip along the Gulf of Mexico ended its suddenly-ordered black-out period, army and navy bomber and fighter planes continued a search of gulf waters for hostile U-baots.

The planes were ordered to sweep over a 250-mile stretch of sea and speedy, small boats were assigned to patrol several hundred square miles of water. Ships in port were under orders to remain at their docks and warnings were broadcast to vessels in the gulf.

Lasting until a half-hour before daybreak this morning, the blackout extended from Rockport on the north to a point more than 20 miles south of Corpus Christi.

The order to keep lights off was issued by Mayor A. C. McCaughan, area defense director, and affected the illumination of streets, signs and large buildings. But citizens themselves cooperated voluntarily in effecting a virtually complete blackout of the district.

No traffic accidents were reported despite the fact that motorists negotiated highways without the benefit of headlights. A 10-mile-an-hour speed limit and the fact that travel was cut to a minimum presumably accounted for the absence of motoring mishaps during the emergency.

Radio stations ceased broadcasting during the night, but kept their staffs on hand for the handling of any possible announcements to the public or other bulletins. Air raid and fire wardens maintained vigilance. Public meetings were cancelled.

Captain Bernhard expressed the opinion that the submarine spotted by the patrol plane had sneaked into the vicinity with the intention of attacking oil tankers. The vessel was seen 12 miles from Aransas pass, a thoroughfare leading to Port Aransas between the coastal islands of St. Joseph and Mustang.

Japanese Make Drive In Borneo

Double-Headed Advance Threatens Pontianak, Principal City

DUTCH PLANES IN ACTION OFF COAST

By JOSEPH J. KOSAK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BATAVIA, N. E. I., Jan. 29—Landing at Emangkat, Japanese seaborne and land forces today launched a double-headed drive into Dutch West Borneo that threatened Pontianak, principal city in the menaced region.

It was announced that sea-borne Japanese forces had landed at Pemangkat on the west coast of Borneo south of Kuching, Japanese-occupied capital of Sarawak.

Simultaneously, Japanese land forces began to exert pressure on Netherlands Indies troops in the same region.

A Dutch communique stated:

"Notwithstanding firm resistance, the Japanese are obtaining local successes, while Pontianak is being threatened.

"All important objectives on the spot have been destroyed by us," the communique added, indicating the scorched earth policy had been put into effect at once.

Dutch Planes In Action

The communique also said that Dutch naval planes had gone into action against Japanese sea units off the Borneo west coast.

In addition, it was stated, Findies forces are offering strong resistance to the Japanese on the east coast of Borneo and in the Kendari area of Celesbes Island.

"Japanese troops have landed at Pemangkat, on Borneo's west coast, south of Kuching, while at the same time also on land heavy pressure was exerted on our troops operating in those regions," the communique said.

"Notwithstanding firm resistance, the Japanese are obtaining local successes, while Pontianak is being threatened. All important objectives on the spot have been destroyed by U.S. naval aircraft have carried out action against Japanese units in that area.

Land At Two Points

"A further report from Kendari now states that the Japanese landings in the vicinity of Kendari, which were effected at two points were covered by fire from Japanese warships. Strong resistance is being continued as our troops have held their positions.

"An air attack was again carried out on Emmahaven. There were again no casualties. Damage to material was inflicted on ships lying there.

"On several points in the outer provinces air activity continues, while the enemy is apparently carrying out much air reconnaissance.

"Reports from the vicinity of Balikpapan make it clear that there, too, resistance on our part is stubbornly continuing."

London Had 154 Air Raid Alerts During Past Year

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 29.—London had 154 air raid alerts during 1941.

During the last four and a half months of 1940 there were more than 400 warnings.

Londoners who dived into underground shelters for the duration of each raid spent 300 hours below ground throughout the whole year, as compared with 1,180 hours during the intense raids from August to December 1940.

August, September and October last year were entirely free from warnings. During December there was one alert. Officials wanted to make sure the sirens were still in working order so they sounded a "two-minute alert."

Body Found In Boat Identified

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29—The body of Carl H. Charlton, 45-year-old boilermaker, was found today in an open boat grounded on the Ohio river bank at Pittsburgh. Identification was made through papers found in the dead man's pocket.

Before identification was made, police thought the body might be that of Robert E. Hallowell, 29-year-old ex-convict, wanted for the slaying of John S. R. Thiel, former Pittsburgh cafe owner.

The Beer Distributors of New Castle Announce a New Plan for Close Co-operation With the Wartime Aims of Our Government

Rubber, trucks, gasoline, lubricating oil and everything that pertains to an efficient motor haulage system are all prime requisites of a modern army.

Knowing this—the beer distributors of New Castle, Pa., voted unanimously to limit deliveries and thereby conserve critical materials needed by our armed forces:

Effective Wednesday, February 4, 1942

All the beer distributors of New Castle, Pennsylvania, the names of whom are listed below, have unanimously agreed to make no deliveries on Wednesdays until further notice.

Truck deliveries to club and retail licensees will be limited to one delivery per customer each day, except Saturday (2 deliveries).

All the beer distributors of New Castle, Pennsylvania have patriotically given their promise of whole-hearted co-operation to this end, and we know that all taverns, clubs and other retail licensees will lend their full support to this necessary conservation measure, and will fully co-operate with the objectives of our Government by anticipating their needs and making the success of this important step a certainty.

Allies May Soon Have Initiative In Pacific Areas

By LEE VAN ATTA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MELBOURNE, Jan. 30—The initiative in the battle of the southwest Pacific is passing from the Japanese to the Allies, Army Minister Francis M. Forde said today.

The army minister made his announcement shortly after an official communique revealed that one Japanese ship had been hit and another probably hit in the Harbor of Rabaul, New Britain Island.

The smashing blows given the Japanese in the vital Straits of Macassar by United States and Dutch air and sea power are the first real check the Japanese have suffered, he said.

"They are evidence that we are reaching the stage when we can search out and attack the Japanese," he declared.

Forde paid high tribute to the courage exhibited by the armed forces of the Netherlands Indies and stated his opinion that they will be able to hold out until allied strength in the area is sufficient "to overwhelm and crush Japan."

Tanker Sinkings Endanger Oil Supplies In East

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Secretary of the Interior Ickes disclosed to a press conference today that oil tankers sinkings along the Atlantic seaboard since the outbreak of war had endangered petroleum supplies on the east coast.

Ickes refused, however, to discuss the extent to which supplies had been diminished, and declined to state that previous "curfew" restrictions on the sale of oil and gasoline in the East would be resumed.

Ickes revived speculation that a pipe line might be constructed to haul oil or petroleum products from the Texas oil fields to the New York-Philadelphia consumer markets.

The secretary stated that while the pipe line project is being given re-consideration, it still would be necessary to use large amounts of steel to build oil tankers for service to the Far East, England, Russia and north Pacific ports.

Ickes asserted that one partial solution to the oil transportation problem would be still greater use of railroad tank car facilities to haul oil and gasoline from the midwest and west to the large consumer markets along the eastern seaboard. He said that tank car transportation of oil had increased 86 per cent in the last two weeks.

Obviously thinking of the unpopular reception given his rationing efforts last summer and fall, Ickes stated that he would not talk about an oil shortage at this time. He said, however, that his office was watching the oil situation closely and that he would assume "full responsibility" for any contingency which may arise.

Appointments To Be Presented At Special Session

Interim Appointments Of Governor Will Probably Be Submitted

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—Numerous interim appointments made by Gov. Arthur H. James while the legislature was not in session will have to be submitted to the senate at the forthcoming special session for confirmation, it was disclosed today.

Heading the list is the appointment of Col. Lynn G. Adams as commissioner of state motor police. Adams' appointment has never been approved by the senate, due to Democratic opposition to his labor record, and he has been serving during the entire James administration by means of interim appointments.

There is no indication that his appointment will receive the senate's approval at this winter's session, which will probably be called for February, perhaps the ninth of the month. Senate Republicans, although in a majority, do not control the two-thirds' vote necessary for confirmation.

Milk Commission Chairman

Another major appointment which will require senate scrutiny is that of John M. McKee, of Camp Hill, chairman of the milk control commission, who has been serving for some time without senate approval. McKee's nomination was referred to the committee on executive nominations on Jan. 13, 1941, but never reported out for confirmation because Republican leaders knew his nomination would be rejected by the senate.

Both McKee and Adams were reappointed by the governor immediately upon the legislature's adjournment on July 17, 1941. If they fail of confirmation again, they can, and probably will, be reappointed to office, thus being permitted to serve again without senate approval until the next special or regular session.

The state constitution requires that the governor shall make such appointments "by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the senate" but this constitutional provision is, with but a few exceptions, a dead letter. Actually, a statue official can be retained in office even after his name has been submitted to the senate and voted down. One notable exception, however, concerns the nomination of members of the public utility commission. Once rejected by the senate, they cannot be reappointed.

Others Affected

In addition to Adams and McKee, the names of other interim appointments will be submitted to the senate when it meets. Some failed to receive confirmation at the 1941 regular session, others were appointed since then. They include:

1. State board of housing. J. E. Burns, of Oil City.
2. Delaware river joint commission. Thomas B. Smith, Glenside.
3. Philadelphia registration commission. Mrs. Sara S. McNeil, Kendall H. Shoyer, Charles W. Sweeney, Victor E. Moore, and Michael R. Kerwick.
4. Board of fish commissioners. Edgar W. Nicholson, Philadelphia; John L. Neiger, Scranton; Joseph Critchfield, Ursina; Clifford J. Welsh, Erie; and Charles A. Mensch, Bellefonte.
5. State board of public assistance. John A. Stevenson, Bryn Mawr.

The names of hundreds of persons who received interim appointments as unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation referees and notaries public will also be forwarded by the state department to the senate.

Trailers And Dormitories To House Workers

President Approves Immediate Construction Of Make-Shift Dwellings

(International News Service)

UPPER DARBY, Pa., Jan. 29.—President Roosevelt has approved immediate construction of 800 trailers and 560 dormitories in the 11 northeastern states to relieve a rapidly-growing housing shortage around defense industry plants, regional farm security head J. H. Wood announced.

"This will be a great relief to the communities affected and to the entire region," declared Wood. "Mushrooming populations at various defense production centers have been distressed for want of shelter, and we have had scores of calls for temporary housing facilities."

Units approved by the president will be established, Wood said, as follows: 150 trailers at Beaver County, Pa.; 250 dormitories at Dover, N. J.; 310 dormitories at Middletown, Pa.; 500 trailers at Delaware County, Pa., and 150 trailers at York, Pa.

Each trailer has been designed to accommodate a family, or about three individuals, each dormitory shelters one man. Action on trailers and dormitories for Bath, Me., Springfield, Vt., and Hartford, Conn., has been postponed, the F. S. A. director said.

Men In Service Honored At Party

Paul Chambers And Andrew Lombardo Honored At Party In St. Margaret's Hall

Two Mahoningtown men in service with armed forces of the United States, Paul Chambers and Andrew Lombardo, were honored Wednesday evening at a party event held in St. Margaret's hall, North Liberty street.

Promptly at 8:15 o'clock a full course dinner was served in the dining room of the hall on nicely arranged tables. Approximately 100 attended, novelty favors marking the places.

Following the meal, Toastmaster Dr. Anthony Masters presided and introduced the honored guests. Each made brief remarks and thanked those responsible for the party. Parents of the two men also gave short speeches. Other speakers included Nick Cangey, Mrs. Stella Lombardo and other relatives and friends.

Card playing, contests and music were featured after the speakers program, and many gifts were presented to the guests in remembrance of the occasion.

Chairman of the event was Mrs. Stella Lombardo, and she was aided by Charlotte Russo. They were assisted by the following on the kitchen committee: Mrs. Andy Masters, Mrs. Sylvia Lombardo, Mrs. Angelo Russo and Mrs. Sam Lombardo.

Paul Chambers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chambers of West Clayton street and is stationed at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. He has been spending a seven-day furlough at his home, and will leave Sunday to resume service at Hawaii.

Andrew Lombardo departed this morning for New Cumberland, Pa., for service. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lombardo of Wabash avenue, and was affiliated with the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

COLUMBUS AUXILIARY KNITS FOR RED CROSS

Members of the Christopher Columbus Auxiliary will have their Red Cross knitting session this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the St. Margaret's hall, North Liberty street.

Chairman, Charlotte Russo announced that new articles will be started, and the finished articles are to be handed in. The session usually held on Wednesday was postponed until this evening due to previous arrangements.

Democratic State Committee To Meet

Call Meeting At Harrisburg For February 27 To Indorse Slate

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—The Democratic state committee will meet in Harrisburg February 27 to indorse a slate of candidates for the primary election on May 19.

Meredith Meyers, state chairman, was going ahead with plans, meanwhile, to hold a conference with a group of party leaders here on Saturday, Feb. 17, to consider candidates for governor, lieutenant-governor and secretary of internal affairs.

The state committee meeting will be convened one day before nominating petitions for candidates may be filed for the primary. Considerable debate is expected to develop over whether the committee should abandon its practice of indorsing candidates before the primary.

Meyers and U. S. Sen. Joseph F. Guffey alike are supporting a drive to abolish the indorsement rule and to substitute a "popular primary", while a number of others prominent in the party, including national Democratic Chairman David L. Lawrence, were in favor of retaining the rule.

Gov. Arthur H. James has indicated he will not consider immediately Senator Guffey's proposal to postpone the primary until the first week in September.

Red Cross First Aid Lessons

LESSON 8
First Aid For Poison

First aid treatment of poison cases usually is not given sufficient attention. This is one of the emergencies demanding immediate action by the first-aider. If the poison can be removed from the stomach before it is absorbed, the harm done the patient is usually not great. Once the poison becomes absorbed into the body, there is not much that even a physician can do.

Some of the poisonous drugs are carbolic acid, lysol, bichloride of mercury, iodine, arsenic or Paris green, strychnine. Among the acids are sulphuric, nitric, hydrochloric, oxalic; and in the alkali family caustic soda, potash and ammonia are the common ones. Also included in the category are medicines used to induce sleep and relieve pain.

Two Points Important

In the treatment, two main points are to be remembered:

1—Dilute. A poison diluted with a large amount of fluid is never absorbed as rapidly as when in a concentrated form. Vomiting is much easier to induce if the stomach is full.

2—Wash Out. When the poison is removed. Induce vomiting until the fuid is as clear as when swallowed.

Both of these objectives are accomplished at the same time by any of the following emetics:

(a.) Soapsuds, use any ordinary soap.
(b.) Salt water.
(c.) Soda water, use ordinary baking soda.
(d.) Lukewarm water.

Vomiting Essential

Give sufficient of this liquid—four to seven glassfuls—preferably lukewarm. Ticking the back of the throat with the finger aids in inducing vomiting, after the patient has had several glassfuls.

When the stomach is well washed out, one may give the antidote. But do not waste time getting an antidote before washing out the stomach. A large dose of epsom salts may safely be given after the stomach is emptied and is good treatment for almost any poison.

In carbolic acid poisoning, give soapsuds or a large handful of epsom salts in a couple of glassfuls of water, followed by enough warm water to induce vomiting.

If the poison taken was a corrosive, such as an acid, alkali, or bichoride of mercury, follow the treatment already outlined with soothing drinks of milk or of milk and eggs beaten up together.

Heat Helps Shock

If the patient shows signs of shock, give stimulants and apply heat. If breathing stops, apply artificial respiration. This is particularly needed in sleep-producing drugs. In opium or morphine poisoning it is advisable to keep the patient awake, but do not exhaust him by compelling physical exercise. Strong coffee, a cup every half hour or so, is good in treating poisoning from any sleep-producing drug. In opium or morphine poisoning make every effort to obtain the use of an inhalator.

Food poisoning, popularly called ptomaine poisoning, is quite common, and the treatment is the same as for drug poisons

STOCKHOLM—The Boy Scout movement is 30 years old in Sweden, where it was founded in 1911. Today there are more than 35,000 Boy Scouts in the country, organized in some 700 troops. The head of the Swedish Boy Scouts is Count Folke Bernadotte, a nephew of King Gustaf V of Sweden.

Forest Towers May Be Aircraft Lookouts

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—One hundred and forty-five forest fire observation towers throughout the state have been placed at the disposal of the American Legion for use in the enemy aircraft observation program, the state council of defense disclosed today.

The legion already mans more than 800 outdoor observation posts in the state, operating under the direction of the army's first interceptor command. It was reported, however, that many of its observers lacked proper shelter, and secretary of forests and waters G. Albert Stewart has offered the fire observation towers for their use.

Congressman Dies To Expose Fifth Column

Congressman Graham Says Colleague Should Be Heard By Every American

LAUDS DIES FOR PATRIOTIC WORK

Congressman Martin Dies, chairman of the famous Dies committee, which is investigating the activities of all subversive and un-American groups in this country, was due to arrive here late this afternoon for his address at The Cathedral on "The Trojan Horse in America," under the auspices of the Legion of Honor.

The advance seat sale for the address indicates that a packed house will greet Congressman Dies on the occasion of his visit here, and he is expected to reveal many astonishing thing about how America was threatened by groups which sought the overthrow of this government from within.

Congressman Louis E. Graham, of Beaver, in a letter to officers of the Legion of Honor, has the following to say about his colleague and his work:

"I cannot congratulate you too strongly upon securing this able and outstanding member of the congress to address you. In my judgment, Congressman Dies has rendered the American people a service that can never be repaid. As chairman of the committee that has worked in season and out of season, focusing the attention of the people upon subversive activities in America, he has done as much, if not more, than any man in America to bring to us a true conception our citizenship, our loyalty to our government, and its institutions, and to a realization of the need to preserve these by removing the subversive influences in our midst. You are fortunate indeed to secure him, and I trust that he will have a large audience because his message should be heard by every man, woman, and child in America."

As has been previously stated, the proceeds of the lecture above expenses, will be contributed to the Lawrence County Chapter's quota of the War Relief Fund, now being raised here.

On a percentage bases, 67.3 per cent of the total population of the United States continues to reside in the state where born; 20.7 per cent born in other states, and the remainder of the population is foreign born, or born at sea or in detached territories.

Y. M. C. A. Shelters Thousands As Bombs Crash

Crowds of distracted women and children found haven in the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. at Honolulu on that tragic morning when the Jap bombs fell. Treachery was still blasting a wide swath of death and destruction when this picture was taken at the front entrance of the Y. It shows Hawaii Territorial Guardsmen swiftly assembling machineguns in an effort to protect the building and the refugees.

Huge Naval Bill Before Congress

Twenty Billion Appropriation For Naval Expansion Is Taken Up

ARMY EXPANSION BILL IS PASSED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Congress went into high gear today to speed a new record-breaking appropriation of $20,000,000,000 for navy expansion, after sending a 12-billion-dollar army fund bill to the White House.

The huge naval bill was before the senate appropriations committee, which is expected to send it to the senate floor for a vote before the week end.

President Roosevelt was expected to sign promptly the $12,556,672,474 army bill, which carries funds for 33,000 airplanes, 23,000 fighters and bombers, and 10,000 training craft.

The senate speeded final passage on the bill with less than 30 minutes of debate, with printed hearings not even ready for members. Sen. McKellar (D) Tenn., in charge of the bill, assured members that the committee would hold weekly meetings to check on expenditures.

The committee's report emphasized the tremendous step-up in the bomber program. Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold, general staff air chief, was quoted as saying heavy bomber production eventually will be raised to 1,000 a month.

The entire airplane industry, Gen. Arnold emphasized, will be put on a 24-hour day and a seven-day week to rush planes. While the planes will be manufactured for the United States, the president was given authority to transfer planes to any of the united nations.

Other Action

Other congressional action included:

House received second war powers bill from senate. This measure provides criminal penalties for violation of priorities, gives the government authority to compel war production, and broadens the property seizure act. It provides for a new half-silver nickel, and authorizes free mail for soldiers, sailors and marines.

Congress sent to the White House a bill tightening the Foreign Registration Act. It requires distributors of foreign political propaganda to register, and transfers administration of the act from the state to the justice department.

The senate was to pass and send to the White House a bill relaxing requirements for compliance with act under which corporations can amortize war plant expenditures over five-year period.

The senate engaged in one of the first displays of politics since the war broke out in adopting an amendment to the war powers bill providing free mail for soldiers.

The amendment of Sen. Brooks (R) Ill., was offered first. A roll-call was ordered when Sens. Johnson (D) Colo., and McFarland (D) Ariz., sought to substitute their own free mail bills. In the end the senate adopted the Brooks proposal and then substituted the Johnson provision for it. It was almost a straight party vote, with Republicans seeking to make Brooks the official author of the amendment and the Democrats aiding Johnson.

Both Brooks and Johnson are candidates for re-election.

The senate defense committee indicated it will continue investigation of dollar-a-year men despite the statement of Donald M. Nelson, was production chief, that the committee is hampering his work.

Fritz Kreisler Back In Stride After Accident

(International News Service)

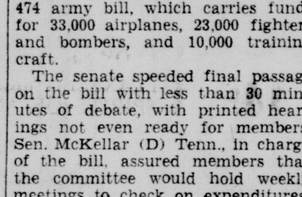

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 29.—"As good as ever," was the tribute paid to the genius of Fritz Kreisler today by Charles Foley, his personal manager.

Kreisler played his first concert in Albany last night since recovering from injuries suffered in a New York traffic accident.

Music critics were unanimous the 67-year-old virtuoso had lost none of his artistry.

Two Deny They Are In Pay Of Jap Government

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—Named in federal indictments charging them with violating the act requiring foreign agents to register with the state department, two San Francisco men, Fred V. Williams and David Warren Ryder, denied today that they were in the pay of the Japanese government.

Williams, publicist and lecturer, professed surprise at the indictment and blamed it on Communist enemies he made "while fighting to keep America out of war."

Ryder, publicity man, writer and publisher with offices in San Francisco, formerly published a magazine, "Far Eastern Affairs," but said he ceased publication on his own volition in 1940 and turned to publishing a home and garden magazine.

Both Williams and Ryder were freed on $5,000 bail last evening after appearing before a U. S. commissioner.

Says A. E. F. Will Carry Fight To U. S. Challenger

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WITH THE A. E. F. IN NORTHERN IRELAND, Jan. 29.—"We will carry the fight to the challenger."

That was the grim fighting pledge against Germany issued today by Major General Russell "Scrappy" Hartle in the first statement the commander-in-chief of the A. E. F. has issued since landing on British soil.

Pausing after three strenuous days of preparing his troops for whatever may be in store, Hartle declared:

"We are here in accordance with the President's promise.

"We are here in accordance with the traditions of the American people that if we are challenged we will accept the fight and carry the fight to the challenger.

"In the light of this, the American soldiers now here are particularly happy to be on British soil."

Maj. Gen. Hartle, a fighting figure himself, with the athletic build of a champion boxer, chiselled features and an eager, alert gleam in his pale blue eyes, paid tribute to these British hosts.

"It is a privilege to be in the British Isles fighting for the defense of democracy with friends who have so graciously received us on this as well as on other occasions," he said.

The closest co-ordination of British and American forces is being developed under a plan for co-operative training, it was said. Under the plan, Americans now in the advanced bridgehead of Europe's fighting zones will be given the benefit of lessons learned in actual combat of more than two years of war.

Actual details of this training and the participation of the American contingent must be withheld, however, for reasons of military security.

But the troops have gone to their billets and already are at home in their new surroundings.

RELEASE FLOW OF LIVER BILE

And You May Enjoy Life More—Sleep Sounder—Awake Refreshed—Ready for a Good Day's Work

Normally your liver should discharge about a quart of precious digestion-aiding juices every 24 hours. A scanty flow—a slowing up may mean Sick Headaches, so-called Biliousness, Poor Digestion with that "half sick" depressed feeling.

Stir yourself! Probably all you need is a gentle exciant: take half a teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts (a famous blend of six salts) in three-quarters of a glass of hot or cold water every morning, half an hour before breakfast. Don't miss a morning. This simple sensible prescription that has worked wonders for thousands should do the same for you. Restrictions On Industry Should Be Lifted For War

So Declares Merle Rukeyser, Nationally Known Economist In Address

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—Suspension of the Sherman Anti-Trust law as one of a series of steps designated to unleash American industry's full productive strength for the duration of the war was urged by Merle Stanley Rukeyser, economic commentator for International News Service.

The New Yorker, in an address before the Pittsburgh Rotary club Wednesday pointed out that an all-out industrial effort, such as has been made in Great Britain, could not be made with the usual peacetime legislative restrictions.

Rukeyser suggested too, that internal harmony could be promoted by freezing management-labor problems and domestic controversies. He explained that social debates and reform movements could be resumed after the final victory is won.

"In wartime, the demand for economy as usual must of course be suspended," Rukeyser continued. "We need to spend what ever it takes to attain victory. We won't want to succumb to the French illusion that they could afford only half a Maginot Line.

"We can't whip the Axis merely with financial statistics; we need the actual implements of war."

After the victory is won, the economist concluded, "we should place a ceiling on the total expenditures of government, on the one hand, and should restore the private enterprise system, on the other."

AROUND CITY HALL

Considerable dirt has been removed from the north side of the State Street hill. Work has been under way for some time. The dirt is being placed in ravines in different sections near the scene of operations. The embankment is being removed to widen the hill in order to prevent auto accidents.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne has instructed Police Chief W. G. McMullen to estimate the tire needs of the police department following which requisition to government authorities will be made. It will be impossible to secure tires for city employes to use their own cars in their duties. The city has allowed such employes a small monthly sum. They will have to use buses to get around.

Chief of Police Willis G. McMullen has requested Mayor Charles B. Mayne to make arrangements to trade in the white police car for a new vehicle. He informed His Honor that it would be waste to put new tires on the old car.

During the absence of Finance Director James L. Fink who underwent an operation recently in the Jameson Memorial hospital, his duties will be taken over by D. O. Davies, who is the director of safety. Council decided upon this move today.

Hurley Is Made U. S. Minister To New Zealand

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—President Roosevelt today named Patrick J. Hurley, who was Secretary of War under Herbert Hoover, as America's first minister to New Zealand.

Some days ago, Hurley, who held a Colonel's commission in the Reserves, was made a Bridadier General. It was assumed that Hurley already has reached his post in the Southwest Pacific.

Decision to exchange diplomatic missions was reached some time ago between the United States and New Zealand. The British Dominion is now represented in Washington by Minister Frank Langstone.

Hurley, a native of Oklahoma, was Assistant Secretary of War at the outset of the Hoover Administration in 1929. Upon the death of Secretary of War James Good, Hurley was given the Republican Cabinet portfolio.

Since advent of the Roosevelt administration, Hurley has been practicing law in Washington, where he and his wife have been prominent social figures.

Priest's Father Dies At Dormont

Nazis Are Warned Time Has Come For Greatest Efforts

Must Draw Upon "Their Inner Springs Of Power" Is General's Statement

(International News Service)

BERNE, Jan. 29.—A guarded hint to the German army and people that the time has come to draw their "inner springs of power" was voiced today by Gen. Field Marshal Erhard Milch, first assistant to Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering in command of the Nazi air force.

In a speech read to a group of Nazi party leaders by Werner Beumelberg on the 230th anniversary of Frederick the Great's birth, Milch spoke of the "terrible times" which Prussia experienced in 1759 when the Russians occupied Berlin.

Expounding a lesson in morale for the present times, Milch said that when the Russians took over 183 years ago, Frederick "became haggard and gray, lost all his fire and imagination and half his teeth."

"But finally," Milch said, "when the end of Prussia seemed to be at hand, the king overcame all difficulties through the strength of his personality and his inner springs of power."

The speech portrayed Frederick the Great as a man of peace distracted from his constructive work by Russia's warlike preparations. It also accused Britain of cynically watching the continental nations bleed on the battlefield while pocketing her profits.

Frederick the Great, said Milch, was the leader of the "have nots" who were fighting for a share of the world's good corresponding to their strength.

Milch was the man who planned and carried out the great "blitz" air attacks on London in 1940 calculated to bring Britain to her knees.

LIFE INSURANCE

The total amount of life insurance in legal reserve insurance companies in the United States in 1939 was estimated at $120,000,000,000, an increase of 3 per cent over 1938, according to the 1940 Encyclopaedia Britannica Book of the Year. During the year, these companies paid out $2,850,000,000 to policy holders and beneficiaries.

Jesus Calls Four Disciples

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Christ and the fishermen

"Come ye after Me, and I will make you to become fishers of men."
—Mark 1:17.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Feb. 1 is Matt. 4:18-22; Mark 1:16-20, Luke 5:1-11, the Golden Text being Mark 1:17, "Come ye after Me, and I will make you to become fishers of men.")

There are two distinct accounts of the calling of four disciples of Jesus, which is the story of today's lesson. St. Matthew tells us that Jesus, walking by the Sea of Galilee, saw two brothers, Simon, called Peter, and Andrew, casting their net into the sea, for they were fishers.

"And He said unto them, Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men. And they straightway left their nets and followed Him."

Going on from that place, Jesus saw James, son of Zebedee, and his brother, John, with their father in their boat; and He called them, and they immediately left their father and the boat and followed Him. St. Mark tells the story approximately the same way, but St. Luke relates that Jesus "stood by the lake of Gennesaret, and saw two ships standing by the lake: but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nets. And He entered into one of the ships, which was Simon's, and prayed him that he would thrust out a little from the land. And He sat down, and taught the people out of the ship."

When Jesus stopped speaking to the people, he told Simon to launch out into deep water and let down the nets. Simon demurred, saying, "Master, we have toiled all night, and have taken nothing. Nevertheless, at Thy word I will let down the net."

Jesus Man of Authority

We are apt to think of Jesus as a gentle man, because He was so full of love and sympathy, but He must have also been a man of great authority, because when He issued an order, albeit in quiet tones, He always was obeyed. So Simon let the net down into the deep water, although it was customary to fish in shallow, and also although he and his partners must have been very weary because they had been fishing all through the night.

The result of this was that their net was so full of fish that it broke, and they beckoned to their partners who were in another ship, to come and help them. Both ships were filled with fish, so that they began to sink. Simon Peter was so overcome that he fell on his knees before the Savior, and said, "Depart from me; for I am a sinful man, O Lord."

Simon realized that this was no common man ,but the Lord, and a sense of his own unworthiness overcame him. Jesus answered him, "Fear not; from henceforth thou shalt catch men." The other three men also were amazed at the great catch of fish, and when the ships were landed (for they did not sink, it seems) all four of the younger men followed Him.

Students of the scriptures think that these four, Simon Peter, his brother Andrew, James and John, had been with Jesus soon after His temptation in the wilderness; that they had left Him or been sent back to their homes to resume their occupation of fishing, so that when He came and called them they were ready to follow Him and gave their lives to His work of saving souls.

These four were the first of Jesus' disciples, and you know that eventually He added eight more, so He had 12 special friends who shared His labors, and when He was crucified and carried up to heaven, to carry on His work and found the church. Twelve were appointed, alluding probably to the 12 tribes of Israel.

At this time Jesus was well known throughout the Holy Land, and was much talked about. Also He had already incurred the resentment of the priests and leaders of the established church, who were determined that this new religion should not gain a foothold and take away their privileges and authority. Jesus had need, therefore, of friends about Him, not only to fight the good fight with Him, but to talk with Him, and by their sympathy and understanding, to help Him.

It is a wonderful thing to be God's helpers. Each one of us has our own work to do, although we never had the glorious privilege of being in personal contact with Jesus. If we do our part faithfully, we too can feel we are co-workers with Him, even as were these men whom He personally called while on earth.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Are you depressed—blame it on the weather.

Do you feel inadequate and futile—blame it on the weather.

Climatic disturbances are blamed for much mental disturbance.

This is particularly true among those mentally diseased.

Mental patients and the weather have been studied closely.

Blame that nervous upset on the weather.

ON THE JOB -as usual

As early as 1938 a similar activity of power plant construction was then our unknown contribution to the war effort of today. 40,000 kilowatts were made ready and now serve our war-time industries.

WE'VE GOT THE MAKIN'S, UNCLE SAM!

December 7, 1941—Pearl Harbor.

December 11, 1941—We declared war on the Axis.

Now we are engaged in a titanic program that has plunged every manufacturer, every worker and every homemaker into the intensified activity of wartime production. And mass production is America's great strength—the strength that will mean a final complete victory for the Allies.

Side by side with defense industries and workers, that's the kind of job we like to tackle and whip. The call to defense found every industry on our lines supplied with electric power. In addition to our interconnected sources of power supply 40,000 kilowatts in our new power plant were ready and in 24-hour production.

Those figures may not mean much offhand, but to industry they mean, here's an outfit big enough to get in there and pitch. Pennsylvania Power Company's "on the job, as usual."

Mother, This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Wonderful

Saves Real Money. No Cooking. Quick Results.

To get the most surprising relief from coughs due to colds, you can easily prepare a medicine, right in your own kitchen. It's very easy—a child could do it—needs no cooking, and tastes so good that children take it willingly. But you'll say it beats them all for quick results.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, and pour it into a pint bottle. Then add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of really splendid cough syrup—about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and lasts a family a long time.

And for real, quick relief, it can't be beaten. It acts in three ways—loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Butler Plays Here Friday

New Castle Seeks To Avenge Earlier Setback At Hands Of Butler

RESERVE TEAMS IN PRELIMINARY

Butler High's strong Section I basketball team will come here Friday night for a non-league return engagement with the New Castle team and will find the locals ready to avenge an earlier setback at the hands of the Butler quintet, 36 to 34, at Butler. In the preliminary game the reserve teams of both schools will tangle at 7 o'clock.

New Castle will have its new team in action Friday night, with Bobby Lee and Joe Ciazza holding down the starting forward jobs, Gene Melichar at center, and Zubkowsky and Burris at guards.

Four Boys Missing

The loss of Ross, Cooper, Parou and Stewart will be keenly felt by the Castles. Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh has expressed himself as satisfied that his boys can carry on the second-half and stay in the lead.

New Castle will have to dispose of Ambridge to gain permanent possession of first place, as the two teams are now deadlocked with four wins and one upset apiece. Incidentally New Castle is the only loop club that has beaten Ambridge and they did it at Ambridge. New Castles' next Section Three game will be next Friday night with Aliquippa scheduled for an appearance at the George Washington High gym.

Grove City Flippers Face Busy Week-End

GROVE CITY, Pa., Jan. 29.—The Grove City college squad turned with relief to basketball today, after mid-semester examinations for a week. Coach Jim Loveless scheduled plenty of physical action for his squad, as an antidote, and as needed preparation for a three-game invasion of New York state over the coming week-end.

It was evident that Crimson regulars hit the tests well enough to remain eligible, and that the squad will be at full strength for the remaining games.

The Grovers face a stiff assignment in getting back into the winning column after dropping their first game in six starts to Thiel's Tomcats. Meeting Fredonia Normal Friday, Buffalo State, Saturday, and St. Bonaventure, Monday.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Tidbits picked up along the sports avenue:—

Since this bureau is recovering more and more contributions about Lawrence county athletes in the armed forces, we'll run a paragraph or two daily about Uncle Sam's boys, provided the "info" continues to roll in. Thomas F. Maher, Jr., known to the sports colony as "Jerry", is now at the barracks at Carlisle, Pa., stationed with the quartermaster detachment.

"Jerry", by the way, has concluded an overnight stop here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Maher, 105 Phillips Place . . . The New Castle Ramblers exist no longer. Said cage team has enlisted in the United States Naval Reserve en masse. The personnel: Edward "Lefty" Bishop, Brinley Whitesides, Lester Tubbs, William Rountree and Sam Nero.

Cadet Robert W. Washabaugh, who could have been performing with Westminster's Titans but elected to join the United States Navy, pens a pleasurable letter from Lakehurst, New Jersey. Cadet Bob, son of Westminster's coach, will be commissioned as an ensign in about a month and half.

"On time off, I've been doing a little job for dad—scouting Brooklyn and Villanova. Take it from me, both teams are plenty tough. Our boys will have to play high class basketball or get dunked. I plan to finish school after we kick h— out of the Japs and Adolf," our friend concludes.

Since the government has banned private flying in California, Dolph Camilli, of the Dodgers, is trying to sell his plane . . . Who was Kid Blackie of the boxing ring? Answer in next paragraph. . . West Texas State is gaining more publicity than any other collegiate basketball team in the land. The team is comprised of giraffes, headed by Charlie Halbert, who is 6 feet 10.

Three Games Here On Friday Evening

Union's Battle At Bessemer Is Topper; Butler To Face New Castle High

Bounce and dribble devotees here foresee sizzling action tonight on three basketball fronts.

In the most crucial affair on the log, so far, as the W.P.I.A.L. is concerned, Union Township High tangles with "hot" Bessemer High, Section 20 league leader, on Bessemer floor.

Bessemer Wins Six

The red and black cloaked dribblers from the cement making city have strung together a half dozen loop triumphs to grab a decided edge in the marathon. With Grubisa, Kresevich and Tasota directing an uncanny display of cage tactics, Bessemer enters the fray confident of emerging on the winning end again.

Coach Pat Patterson's proteges, losers of three league arguments, are all out for this engagement. The Scotland Laners have to win Friday or commence to map plans for the 1942-43 Section 20 race.

This attraction is augmented by a 1-A feature billed for George Washington Junior High gym where Butler and New Castle High mix hoop shots in one of those non-league affairs starting at 8:15 o'clock.

While the outcome will have no bearing whatsoever on the W.P.I.A.L., the respective teams will shoot the business in hopes of fattening the winning column.

With New Castle flashing sensational form in Section III and Butler clicking on all five in Section I, the court gallery is sure to see the type of basketball that brings chills.

Wampum At Home

Wampum High continues activities on its new hardwood by facing Zelienople High. The crowd that follows the "Cementers" is turning out en masse to watch Coy Craine, Wampum's scoring whiz, who is well on his way to setting a scoring mark at Wampum. The colored athlete is conducting a one-man blitz on the cords, averaging well over 15 points per clash.

Shenango Township, New Wilmington, Princeton, Mt. Jackson and East Brook will review the cage parade from the sidelines.

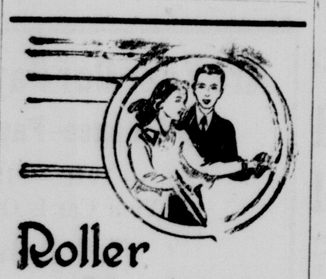

HOUSE LEAGUE GAME

The Globetrotters defeated the A. Z. A. team last night at the "Y" in a House League game 32 to 27, with Stein, DiCarlo, I. Solomon, T. Marlin and G. Solomon starring. Friday night the Celtics and Globetrotters will battle at 7 o'clock.

GIANTS CARD 33

Titans Battle Geneva Tonight

Capacity Crowd Anticipated For Game Carded For Beaver Falls High Gym

GAME TO START AT 8:45 O'CLOCK

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 29.—Western Pennsylvania's sports spotlight will glisten upon Beaver Falls—scene of the 65th Westminster-Geneva college basketball game—tonight at 8:45 o'clock.

A crowd of more than 2,000 court addicts is expected to file into Beaver Falls High gymnasium to witness what has been labeled as one of the feature sports attractions of the season in these precincts.

For Westminster, winner of eight clashes out of the nine, the encounter represents one of the stiffer tests along the bounce and dribble highway.

The rivalry angle and Geneva's spirit, which received a triple shot in the army by virtue of a surprise win over Duquesne's mighty hoop quint, add to the arduousness of the Titans' task.

Since the battle is carded for Beaver Falls, the site is a distinct advantage for the Covies. At home, the Ransom-coached outfit has not been licked this season.

Geneva Is Primed

Geneva is in top condition following a 10-day rest period. Capt. John Billie, the team's sparkplug, is rarin' to go; so is Charles DeVenzio, classy Coraopolis performer, and a pair of Johnnies—Moyer and Rayz. Geneva has a six won and six lost mark.

Coach Grover C. Washabaugh, following a light but active rehearsal yesterday, proclaimed his proteges in "excellent shape." The popular tutor indicated that he won't change his lineup, not since the starters are clicking better than they have at any time this season.

Dale "Smokey" Dunmire, whose performances lately have skyrocketed him near the top in collegiate circles, leads the scoring column with 85 points. He'll roam around guard along with Joe Spak, serious Pittsburgher, who has meshed 72 points.

Stan Wasik, who has hit his 1941 form, is booked for center duties. Wasik, a tower of strength under the boards, has flipped 67 points.

Fox In Form

Lee Fox, as good a set-shot artist as you'l find anywhere along the collegiate rialto, is in mid-season form. He has literally burned the cords in recent games. From way down near the ratskeller berth, Fox has boomed himself into second place scoring honors with 76 points. He'll play forward.

"Buzz" Ridl, a "fire-wagon" performer imbued with fight, spirit and talent, will occupy the forward berth, opposite Fox. Ridl has canned 72 points.

The blue and white shirted flippers from Lawrence county hold a 33-31 edge in the cage series.

Following their Geneva tiff, the Titans prepare for their most difficult assignment of the season—their battle with Toledo university at Toledo, Saturday night.

In tonight's preliminary, starting at 7:30 o'clock, the Titan and Geneva "jayvees' will perform.

PRESSURE ON ORTIZ

The Washington Senators are depending on Roberto Ortiz to supply some of the hits now that Buddy Lewis has gone to war.

TITLE BOUND? By Jack Sords

Falcons To Play Columbiana Five

The Polish Falcon hall on Miller avenue will be the scene tonight of two fine basketball games. In the preliminary game the Factor girls, one of the best girl teams in the country will play the strong Sharon Buhl club girls team from Sharon at 7:30 o'clock.

In the main game at 8:30 o'clock the Falcons will tangle with the strong Columbiana, Ohio B. C. club, made up of former college stars. The Falcons have been averaging better than 50 points a game so far this season under the guidance of Coach Henry Koszela.

On Sunday afternoon the Falcons will play the Farrell All-Stars, Mercer County champions. There will be a good preliminary game also.

Church League Games Friday

Three more games will be played on Friday night in the New Castle Church Basketball league at the "Y" floor. In the first game the St. Vitus team will play the St. Marys quintet, at 7:45 o'clock.

The second game will find Coach "Manny" Othites sending his fighting Greek team into battle with the strong Third U. P. team. The Greeks hope to atone for an earlier setback at the hands of the East Siders. In the third game the Central Christians will play the Central Presbyterians.

WEST TEXAS STATE DEFEATED BY LIU

NEW YORK, Jan. 29—West Texas State, the world's tallest basketball team, suffered its second setback of the season, losing a 58-56 decision to Long Island university Wednesday night.

KOTZ IS LEADER

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Several times before now I have mentioned in an off-hand sort of way the effect this war may have on baseball. It may be more far-reaching than anybody has imagined up to now. The war may decide the pennant races.

If you look at the war for what it is the pennant races can't conceivably be important. It cant be very important who wins or who loses a championship, for the war is a fight for things considerably more important than that. However, sports fans will be eager to know just where a given club can finish and why. And here is the wa it is, or the way it seems to be.

May Lose Henrich

The Yankees figure to win another American League pennant by many games. The rest of the clubs in their circuit can't hope to compete with them—unless the war upsets all that. As the war very well may do.

For instance, Tommy Henrich, the Yankee outfielder, has been placed in the upper brackets of the draft and may go any time, depriving the Yankees of a certain punch that they very well may need. If Henrich goes in, who is going to play first base with Johnny Sturm already inducted? They can use Buddy Hasset, but they have no assurance that he will be able to carry on in championship style.

Besides Sturm, the Yankees already have lost Ken Sylvestri, third string catcher and pitchers Peek and Stanceau.

The Yankees problem will simmer down to placing George Selkirk back in right field in place of Henrich and Hassett on first and may the best team win after that.

The war is breaking up the ball clubs not that this can be very important. And you can just imagine the war department worrying over whether the Yankees win the pennant or not.

Pastor Favored

Getting away from baseball and the war, Bob Pastor and Gus Lesnevich have been pronounced in A-1 perfect shape for their fight Friday night. The New York State Athletic Commission wishes everybody to know that these two sterling gladiators are ready to go with Lesnevich in line for a crack at Joe Louis if he can contrive to win. If Pastor wins, then Melio Bettina or somebody else will get the chance to whip Louis. Pastor has had two chances without success.

Everybody who thinks that Lesnevich can beat Louis for the world heavyweight championship will be permitted to raise his hand at this point.

Now everybody who thinks Lesnevich can even beat Pastor can signify by saying "I" or by raising his hand. Pastor probably will beat Lesnevich and Bettina therefore will windup with the Louis shot, to the consternation of all.

They will throw him in there with Louis strictly because he is a southpaw. And Louis immediately will knock him back around right-handed and out. And you can bet on that.

Pulaskis-Farrell To Play Tonight

Tonight at the K. Pulaski hall the K. P. Big Five will tangle with the Mercer County championship Farrell-All-Stars. There will be a preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

The Farrell team recently handed the St. Vitus team a defeat at Farrell. The K. Pulaski team has been strenghtened by the addition of "Dal" Mumford from the New Castle championship team of 1936 and by Walt Oris former Shenango high star.

Second U. P. Tops Mahoning 45 To 18

Second U. P. Real Leaders In New Castle Church League, Epworth-Croton Win

Second U.P. church basketball team, leaders of the New Castle church league last night made it 21 straight wins in a row in league and non-league competition, by walloping a hard fighting Mahoning Methodist team 45 to 18. The Davis coached machine looked very impressive in winning.

Bob Pitzer, R. Jamison were the standouts for the winners, with Howard best in the losing lineup. In the second game the Epworth team edged the Baptists in a close hard fought battle 41 to 35, with Reed, Wainio of Epworth starring, and Riley an outstanding performer in the Baptist lineup. In the third game the Croton team nosed out the First Presbyterians by one point, 35-34, in a thriller-diller. G. Adams, Sheehy, and Genkinger were the high point men.

Mrs. Ida Duncan Presented Gift By W. B. A. Lodge

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—With a good attendance of members, a regular meeting of the senior W. B. A. lodge was held last evening at the bank hall. Mrs. Ethel Thomas, managing deputy, of New Castle, was a special guest.

During the evening a lovely gift was presented the retiring president, Mrs. Ida Duncan.

Cards and bingo followed for members and friends with the awards going to Cornelius Cleary, Charles Fye, Anne Patterson and Mrs. A. McElwain for 500, and Mrs. Sarah Gillespie and Mrs. Susanne Stevenson for bingo. Tempting refreshments were served by group one of the special guard team.

Wednesday, February 11, is the time of the next meeting.

Mrs. H. J. Breuer Honored At Shower

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Mrs. Joseph Bloomer graciously entertained members of the Delta Deck club and a group of friends last evening at her home on Park avenue.

Special guests were Mrs. Harry Hall, Mrs. Dora McKinney, Mrs. Ferd McKinney, Mrs. William Rugh, Mrs. Willard Forsythe, Mrs. George Simmons, Mrs. Musetta Harmon, all of Riverview, and Mrs. Lee Bloomer, Mrs. Earl Welsh, Mrs. Velma Parker, Mrs. Paul Riley, Mrs. A. Franus and Mrs. Hartzell Rankin of this city.

The affair was in the form of a shower for the hostess' daughter, Mrs. H. J. Breuer of Riverview, and she was presented with an array of lovely gifts.

Awards for bridge went to Mrs. Welsh for guests and Mrs. Workley and Mrs. W. P. Strouse for members, and bingo prizes went to a number of members.

At a late hour the hostess was aided in serving a refreshing lunch by Mrs. Lee Bloomer and Mrs. Frank McCarthy.

The club will meet again on Wednesday, February 11, at the Strouse home, Park avenue.

LUNCHEON HONORS CLUB ASSOCIATES

ELWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Members of "Our Bridge Club" were pleasantly entertained on Wednesday at a 1 o'clock luncheon at the home of a former member, Mrs. George Feerst, of California avenue. The table was most attractively decorated.

Cards whiled away the afternoon hour with the high awards going to Mrs. S. A. Hartung and Mrs. B. D. Turner and the travel prize to Mrs. Thomas Lee.

Another meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Robert McCabe, Glen avenue.

TROOP EIGHT

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Troop eight, Ellwood City Girl Scouts, met last evening at the Ewing Park school. Mrs. Garfie'd Thomas taught the group home nursing after which new patrol leaders were elected and new patrols chosen. Peggy Baird, scribe.

Mrs. James Hazen Called By Death

Dies This Morning At Ellwood Hospital Following Year's Illness

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Mrs. Flora Alles Hazen, aged 58, wife of James H. Hazen, 217 Second street, this city, died at 8:25 o'clock this morning at the Ellwood hospital following an illness of one year's duration.

She had resided in this city for many years and was well known and liked.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Merle Bowen and Mrs. Stillson Cowan; one son, Chester Hazen, all of this city; her father, C. C. Alles; one sister, Miss Lydia Alles, both of Spring avenue, and one grandson

Funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, from the Van Gorder funeral home, in Fifth street. Interment will be made in Locust Grove cemetery. Friends will be received at the funeral home.

Brides-To-Be Are Honored At Party

Betty Jane Hogue, Dorothy Houk Plan Weddings In Immediate Future

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Two brides-elect of the immediate future were delightfully honored at a shower on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Norman Hogue, Woodside avenue.

The honor guests were the hostess' daughter, Miss Betty Jane Hogue, and the hostess' niece, Miss Dorothy Houk, who resides at the Hogue home.

Miss Dorothy Houk will become the bride of William Latham, of the New Castle road, on Friday. Miss Betty Jane Hogue will wed Harold Houk, son of Mr. and Mrs Charles Houk, this city, on Saturday, Feb 7.

About 20 guests, a number from New Castle, participated in the pleasant diversions of the evening, after which a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, aided by Mrs. Alfred Kennedy and Mrs. James Hogue.

Each of the prospective brides was presented with an array of lovely gifts.

MRS. WILBERT HALL PLEASING HOSTESS

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Mrs. Wilbert Hall opened her home on the Ellwood-Zelienople road last evening to members of the T. T. T. club.

For diversion 500 was played with the high score awards going to Mrs. Albert Blazen, Mrs. Kenneth Bollinger, Mrs. Elwin Richards and Mrs. William Crowley. Mrs. Nathan Woodfield aided in serving a dainty lunch.

On Friday, February 13, the club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Heinz, Knox.

Gardner Services Held On Wednesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Funeral services for Dr. Kenneth A. Gardner, Penn avenue, Pittsburgh who died on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the West Penn hospital Pittsburgh, were held on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church.

Rev. Thomas Berger, pastor of the church, and Rev. W. E. Minteer, pastor of the First U. P. church, officiated at the services which were attended by many sorrowing relatives and friends. There were a great many beautiful flowers.

Interment was made in the church cemetery with pallbearers being associates of Dr. Gardner.

Presbyterian Women Gather On Wednesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—"What I Want the Church to Give My Children" was the theme of a most interesting panel discussion at the monthly all-day meeting of the Women's association of the Presbyterian church, on Wednesday.

Mrs. Walter Baisch was in charge of the discussion, with parts being taken by Mrs. Dale Mason, Mrs. Nelson Kenedy, Mrs. Victor Melin, Miss Elizabeth Gardner and Mrs. George B. Wilson. Mrs. F. E. Moore led the opening devotions.

The various guilds met at 10 o'clock in the morning and devoted the time to folding bandages for the hospital and Red Cross work.

At one o'clock a tempting luncheon was served by Mrs. Erle B. Yahn and her aides, Mrs. J. A. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Clark Parshall, Mrs. William Mattocks, Mrs. Ruth Henry and Mrs. Chester Wilson.

Wednesday, Feb. 25, is the time of the next meeting.

Delta Club Has Annual Election

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Frank Gross was elected president of the Delta club for the new year at the regular meeting held last evening in the Sixth street hall, and named to serve with him were:

Vice president, Arthur Howells, Jr.; secretary-treasurer, Clyde Gibson, and member of the board of directors, Edward Thalgott.

Announcement was made that next week's program would be in the form of a sports event of some kind.

Cards followed the meeting after which an appetizing lunch was served by Dale Lutz and Edward Thalgott.

Frisco Auxiliary Has Card Session

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—A most successful card and bingo party took place yesterday at the Firemen's hall at Frisco and was held by the Firemen's Auxiliary.

Awards went to Mrs. Nathan Woodfield and Mrs. Alvie Klindienst for cards, and Mrs. Jane Norton and Mrs. Nellie Boone for bingo and special awards to Mrs. Ralph Miller and Mrs. Edith Blinn.

Mrs. Ruth Price and her committee served tempting refreshments.

Plans were made to have a Valentine card party Wednesday, February 11, at the hall with Mrs. Frank Klindienst in charge of arrangements.

August Kubic Is Called By Death

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—August Kubic, aged 81 years, passed away last evening at the New Castle hospital after an illness caused by the infirmities of advanced age.

Mr. Kubic had no immediate survivors, and had resided for the past thirty years at the home of Mrs. Joseph Gregor, 416 Division avenue.

Funeral services will be held on Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the W. D. Porter funeral home, in Fourth street, with Rev. Ludwig Beisecker, pastor of the German Lutheran church, to officiate. Interment will be made in Locust Grove cemetery. Friends will be received from 7 until 9 o'clock tonight at the funeral home.

Billy Conn Wins Over Jay Turner

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 29.—Billy Conn, Pittsburgh challenger for the heavyweight crown of Joe Louis, today held a victory over Jay D. Turner, 227½-pound Dallas fighter, following a 10-round battle witnessed by more than 6,000 fans.

Conn, weighing 183, was awarded every round except the sixth in which Turner won a draw after catching Conn with the heaviest blow of the bout, a right-hand smash to the head. Conn landed his left at will, raining punches on Turner's chin and stomach.

TAYLOR TO MANAGE

Harry Taylor, veteran first-sacker, will manage the Jackson club in the Southeastern League.

President's Ball Arranged By Elks

Various Organizations To Cooperate In Annual Event On Friday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—When members of the Elks lodge convened last evening at the club for the regular meeting, final arrangements were made for the President's Birthday ball to be held on Friday evening at the club house.

Various organizations of the town are cooperating with the arrangements and a successful affair is anticipated.

Arrangements were also made for the annual observance of past exalted ruler's and home-coming day. The affair will be held on Sunday, February 15, with arrangements in charge of Merit Book.

Because of the dance on Friday, the weekly 66 and bridge parties will be held tonight at the club. A cabaret dance was announced for the first Saturday of February.

Fifty members attended and after the meeting were served appetizing refreshments.

Mrs. Walter Tritt Is Guest Of Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Mrs. Walter Tritt was a special guest of the J. L. club last evening when the members were welcomed at the home of Mrs. Joseph Kraynack, of Park Gate.

For several hours, cards were enjoyed with the nice awards going to Mrs. Jacob Seetch, Mrs. Howard Donaldson, Mrs. Walter Tritt and Mrs. Hershell Tritt.

After tempting refreshments were served, members departed to meet again in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Howard Donaldson, Park Gate.

Parlette Club At Dambach Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—With Miss Rhea Meehan as a special guest, members of the Parlette club were graciously entertained last evening at the home of Miss Dorothy Jane Dambach, Spring avenue.

Cards held the attention of the group with the attractive prizes going to Miss Charlotte Rodgers and Mrs. Jack Zeigler. The hostess served a dainty lunch.

Members were invited to meet again on Wednesday, February 11 at the home of Miss Peggy Knight Park avenue.

Miss Luby Chesko Names Wedding Day

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Miss Luby Chesko, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Chesko, Ellwood-New Brighton road, and David M. Smith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. David Smith, Sr., of Fallston, have chosen Saturday, January 31, as the date for their marriage.

The ceremony will be performed at 4 o'clock at the North Sewickley Presbyterian church by the pastor, Rev. Robert E. Bell. Mr. and Mrs. John Henn of Fallston will be the attendants.

A. F. F. MEMBERS AT WURTEMBURG

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Mrs. Kenneth Gunnett was a special guest of the A. F. F. club associates last evening when members gathered at the home of Mrs. Robert Griffiths, Wurtemburg Heights.

After several hours of cards, the prize honors went to Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Robert Dambach and the travel prize to Miss Janice Stroup. Mrs. Gunnett and Mrs. Ernest Brooks aided in serving a dainty lunch. Another meeting will be held in two weeks.

ACE HIGH CLUB MEMBERS GATHER

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—At the home of Mrs. Frank Peffer on Franklin avenue members of the Ace High club were welcomed last evening for the bi-weekly meeting.

Five hundred was played at two tables with the attractive prizes going to Mrs. Charles Hauserman, Mrs. Ben Anderson and Mrs. John Stephenson, who aided in serving a tasty lunch.

On Wednesday, February 11, another meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Leo Schlimmer, Frisco.

HOSPITAL NOTES

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Discharged: Mrs. Harry Miller, Zelienople, and Mrs. Ralph Tammaro and infant son, 1220 Lawrence avenue.

ELLWOOD PERSONALS

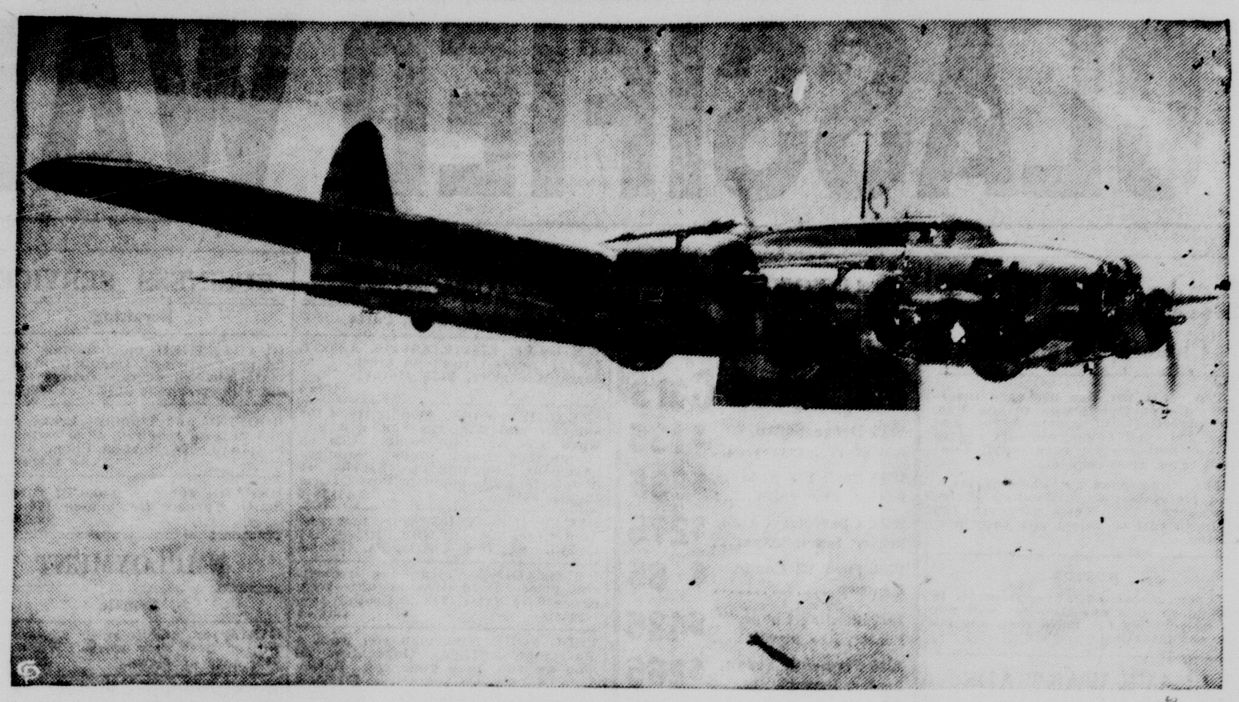

Mrs. William Travis, Bridge street, has returned home from Wilkinsburg where she was called last week by the serious illness and death of her nephew, Dr. Kenneth A. Gardner.

Mrs. Walter LeHaven, who has been ill for a month at her home on Perry street, is now improving.

The many friends of Mrs. Ira Brown of South Ellwood Heights, who was seriously injured several months ago in an automobile accident, will be glad to know that she is now able to be about in a wheelchair.

Mrs. Margaret Mackey, of Seventh street, attended an initiation and dinner held Tuesday night at the Moose temple, New Castle.

SHADOW OF FLYING FORTRESSES' WINGS DARKEN RISING SUN

New and powerful forces brought into action by the United Nations to darken the Rising Sun in the Far East are the huge, hard-striking American Flying Fortresses, which have participated in the battle against Japanese warships and transports in the Straits of Macassar, striking swift, telling blows at the enemy ships. The Flying Fortress above is shown dropping a bomb, lower center, in practice before the war. Those open bomb bays mean death and destruction to foes on the land or sea below.

JUNIORS ARRANGE VALENTINE PARTY

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—The newly organized Junior W. B. A. Lodge met last evening at the bank hall with a good attendance of members.

The work of the new year was outlined by the managing deputy, Mrs. Ethel B. Thomas, New Castle.

Plans were made to have the next meeting on Wednesday, February 11, in the form of a Valentine party.

SON'S NAME OMITTED IN MYERS OBITUARY

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Survivors of Mrs. Frank N. Myers, who died on Tuesday at the Jameson hospital, New Castle, as published in Wednesday's edition of this paper, omited the name of a son, Clifford Myers, of the Ellwood-New Castle road. The error is most regretted.

Funeral services for Mrs. Myers were held this afternoon from the late residence, at Castlewood.

MISS MARY ARMOND HAS K. MEMBERS

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Miss Mary Louise Armond, College street, opened her home last evening to members of the K. club, with Miss Erma McQuiston sharing as a special guest.

Sewing was the pastime, after which a tempting lunch was served by Mrs. Edward Smith and Mrs. Charles Armond.

Another meeting will be held on Friday, Feb. 13, at the home of Miss Martha Foreman, Zelienople road.

Women Of Moose Have Initiation

Class Of 24 Taken Into New Castle Chapter No. 8 In Ceremonies

In honor of Mrs. Stella Fisher, associate dean of the Academy of Friendship, of western Pennsylvania, twenty four candidates were initiated into New Castle Chapter No. 8, at the Moose Temple, Tuesday evening.

Ceremonies were conducted by Farrell Chapter, with Mrs. Marjory Miller, Senior Regent, presiding.

The meeting was turned over to the chairman of the Academy, Lotta Rea, and membership chairman, Mary Sullivan, who presented a fine program, which consisted of dancing and splendid selections of music by the local Moose orchestra.

Mrs. George Bollinger, chairman of Women's Home Defense, of this county, gave an interesting talk on Home Defense, and standing behind the lines of our boys in service.

Mrs. Stella Fisher spoke on membership and the principles and ideals of the women of the Moose, and the fine way in which they are serving their country.

Lotta B. Rea presented the associate dean with twenty dollars, toward the annual scholarship fund at Mooseheart.

Pilgrim Blanche Walk graduate grand ritualist of U. S. A. and Canada spoke on the organizing of the Academy of Friendship, and its progress, having now 6700 honorary members, and that 58,000 women of the Moose with the Loyal Order of Moose, maintain and support the Child City, and Moose Haven, home for the aged.

Pilgrim Maude Harbert, graduate associate regent, and senior regent Helen Broadbent, of this city, also made addresses.

Mrs. Rea presented Blanche Walk, Stella Fisher, and Senior Regent Marjory Miller, of Farrell, with beautiful gifts, and corsages to the members of Farrell chapter.

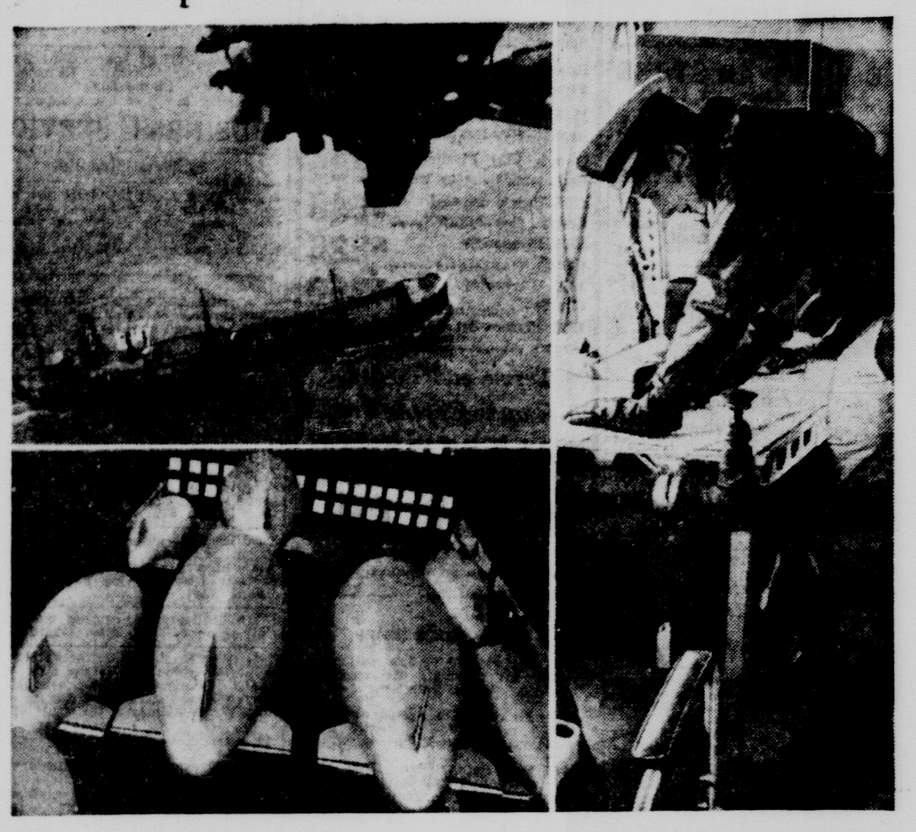

Later, a dinner was served to about 250 guests from Baltimore, Md., Farrell, Sharon, Pittsburgh Ellwood City and this city. Mrs. May Cross of Baltimore was present.

The dinner was in charge of Roxie Smith, and her aides were Mary Kennedy, Ruth Umstead, Luella McDevitt, Pearl Yoho, Lillian Floyd, Cleora Krah, Lotta B. Rea, H. Margaret Davies.

COOKS TO BE OFFICERS

LONDON—The British soldier won't be able to tell the cook what he thinks of him in the future—"cookie" will be an officer. The army catering corps is the newest formation—so new it hasn't decided yet whether its cap badge is to be a pot or a kettle. First hint of its formation was when the appointment of three officers to the new corps was published in the London Gazette.

Blimp Patrol Over the North Atlantic

To Carry on the Colin Kelly Tradition

Upon the shoulders of the twenty-month-old Colin Kelly 3rd, falls the responsibility of carrying the tradition that goes with his name. His father died sinking the Japanese battleship Haruna, in the greatest single act of bravery since the outbreak of World War II. He is pictured in an aviator's uniform with his favorite toys, a battleship and an airplane. (Central Press)

MONTANA MAY BECOME WORLD'S SAPPHIRE CENTER

(International News Service)

HELENA, Mont.—The war may yet make Montana the sapphire center of the western hemisphere.

Shipments of the precious gems from the Old World have been steadily decreasing because of the Atlantic blockade, but defense activities have brought about an ever-increasing demand.

Reason is that the sapphire is not only a pretty stone to adorn a girl's ring or man's stickpin. It is also a necessity for use as bearings in the manufacture of scientific instruments. The sapphire is second only to the diamond in hardness and is much cheaper.

Dr. Francis A. Thompson, president of the Montana School of Mines at Butte, has pointed out that his state is this country's present greatest source of the precious stone. And if the market demand for sapphires increases much more, look to Montana to become an important spot on the map of the world's wealth.

JAP BOMBS HIT SINGAPORE'S CENTER

—News of the Day Newsreel

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Tonight is the night . . . Congressman Martin Dies will do the speaking. Some people like this chap and some people don't. His message should be one that will be of interest to all of us here in Lawrence County. Tickets will be on sale at the door . . . so decide at the last moment and attend . . . Oh, yes, the event will be held in The Cathedral.

Don't you think that the local bus situation is better today than it was . . . say, three weeks ago. We have been checking with those who ride the buses and they have told us that the bus is almost right on the minute every trip. Maybe now and again time slips up, but that is only human . . . even your watch stops or loses a moment now and then. If you cooperate with the bus company we feel sure you will be perfectly satisfied, especially after they get in their new home. So let's keep going and the old world won't look so gloomy.

Here is a little poem A. T. Kissinger wrote for a group of school girls . . . we present it now with his compliments and as a toast to all the little girls who are now in school and who will attend schools in the years to come:

OUR SCHOOL GIRLS

I see them passing every day
They are young, their hearts are gay;
They always smile and nod to me.
They are just as pretty as can be.

They lightly trip along the street
Their clothes are always trim and neat;
Their books held lightly on their arm,
Adds greatly to their youthful charm.

Their lips a lovely cherry red
And eyes that sparkle in their head
The roses on their cheeks so fair,
Are real roses God put there.

I have traveled many, many miles,
I have never seen such winning smiles;
And that's the reason don't you know,
Why we love our school girls so.

Easy Tone In Stock Market

Price Changes Are Mostly Unimportant — Little Pressure Seen

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The stock market showed an easy tone in a continuation of yesterday's trend. There was little pressure, however, and price changes were mostly unimportant.

Steel shares started lower but were firmer toward midday. Bethlehem's report, due after the close, was a restraining influence.

Motor shares, firm yesterday, were down slightly.

Union Pacific lost almost a point in an easy market for rails. In contrast, J. I. Case moved up over a point, one of the few sizeable price changes.

Texas Corp. was up as Standard of N. J. slipped further. Mail orders, rubbers and aviations were down. Coppers and chemicals were mixed.

Gibson Girl?

Peggy Diggins

Once chosen as America's "prettiest Irish lass," Peggy Diggins, above, is now regarded as the possible choice for the lead in the forthcoming picture, "Gibson Girl." She is dressed here in the character of a Gibson girl, made famous by the pen of Charles Dana Gibson, the artist.

House Committee Decides Against Further Probe

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—The House Naval Affairs Committee today, by a vote of 14 to 6, decided against conducting an investigation into the Pearl Harbor disaster which, committee members indicated, would have gone farther into the causes of the defeat than did the Roberts report.

The action was taken by tabling a motion to request from the president the full text of the Roberts report, of which only the conclusions have been made public.

Committee members who urged the investigations, it was understood, were not differing to any great extent with the report but sought to determine whether the blame of the disaster might be placed on other shoulders besides those of Rear Admiral Husband Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter G. Short.

"I just came over to keep an eye on the boy," was the way Sergt. David Meskimen (left) explained his presence in Northern Ireland with the AEF. His son, Frank, shown with Meskimen, is in the same outfit and a sergeant, too. They're from Waterloo, Iowa.

High C Dough for Defense

Lily Pons made an appeal during a performance of "The Daughter of the Regiment" at the Metropolitan Opera, which resulted in the immediate sale of $38,100 in defense bonds. Miss Pons is shown as she sold $5,000 to Tenor Lauritz Melchior. Novelist Fannie Hurst (left) bought the same amount. The Met's general manager, Edward Johnson, looked on in approval. (Central Press)

Not Falling Into Hitler's Trap Says Secretary Knox

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Declaring that at least 18 Japanese ships have been destroyed since he made the remark on Jan. 12, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox on Wednesday asserted that his much-criticized statement that Hitler is America's "great enemy" had been misunderstood.

Although reiterating that "Hitler hatched this ghastly conspiracy on the whole world," and that he must be overwhelmed, Secretary Knox also emphasized his opinion that the enemy is one and indivisible and that the United States must concentrate on every war front.

Not Forgetting Pacific

"If some people thought I was forgetting the Pacific; if some people misunderstood my reminder that the German monster was still at large and unsubdued, the navy didn't," Secretary Knox continued.

"Since I made the remark on Jan. 12, the navy has accounted for 18 Japanese ships and probably three others, and has done a number of other things which discretion forbids me to report."

The navy secretary defended and clarified his attitude in an address before the Chicago Association of Commerce in which he portrayed the U. S. Navy as growing with unparalleled speed into a force which eventually will be irresistible in combination with the other united nations in their war against the Axis.

His original statement not only aroused criticism in this country from those who interpreted it to mean that aid for the valiant forces of Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines might not be undertaken, but similar statements of apprehension came from Chinese, Australian and Dutch East Indies quarters as well.

"I have been criticized recently for suggesting that Hitler is our great enemy; that without Hitler Japan could get nowhere," Knox said.

Where Could Japan Get?

"And where do you suppose Japan could get if Britain, Russia and the United States were not occupied with Hitler in the west and were free to join the gallant, long suffering Chinese and hurl their collective weight on Japan? But some people evidently misunderstood me and I want to be emphatically clear.

"The war in the Pacific, the war in Malaya, in Russia, in Libya—they are all one war, one world revolution, one bid for world mastery.

"Hitler hatched this ghastly conspiracy on the whole world, but the enemy is one enemy—one indivisible, total enemy. Emboldened by Hitler's successes and disappointed in China, the ambitious Japanese struck us in the Pacific.

"The Axis chose the time and the Pacific as the place for our entry in the war. It is there that our fleet has been attacked; there that American territory has been invaded; there that Americans are fighting epic battles against enormous odds.

"Why? Because Hitler wants us to throw all our growing strength into the Pacific, to stop supplying the British and Russians. But this is what we propose not to do; we will not fall into Hitler's trap.

"We know, as I say, that this is all one war. Attacked in the Pacific and Atlantic, we have to fight and win in the Pacific and Atlantic. We dare not turn our backs to either front. These criminals are too good with daggers. We cannot take them on one at a time when they are coming two at a time."

48-Hour Week Bill Proposed

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Sen. Reed (R) Kans., today introduced a bill in the senate to lengthen the 40-hour work week limit of the wage-hour law to 48 hours during the war and six months thereafter.

Reed said it would preserve jobs for tens of thousands of employes of small businesses now struggling for existence.

"The 40-hour week was established principally to 'spread the work' when there were more people looking for jobs than were available," he said. "That situation has been reversed. There are now more jobs than there are people to take them. The small employers are greatly handicapped with overtime payment after 40 hours."

Some business men, he said, cannot keep operating costs down to a reasonable level if they have to pay overtime over 40 hours.

Motor Deaths In City Show Big Jump During Past Year

Deaths In Rural Area Of County Shows Decrease, State Figures Show

Traffic fatalities within the city of New Castle showed an increase of six over last year's figures, according to the Bureau of Highway Safety of the Department of Revenue, while those in the rural section showed a decrease of four. Total fatalities, where the accidents occurred within the county showed an increase of two over 1940.

In addition to the above there were several deaths which occurred in the Ellwood City hospital, in which the accidents occurred in Beaver and Butler counties, and these are not counted in Lawrence county's figures by the state.

Total fatalities in the state were 2,298, an increase of 180 over the preceding year.

State Capital Battles Birds

Annual Conflict With Starlings Is Again Started At Harrisburg

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—Pennsylvania's state capitol is being invaded again and shots can be heard echoing among the surrounding trees and buildings almost nightly.

It's not a major war, nor even a bloody one. In fact, it's an annual event, the fight to keep the capitol free of starlings.

Once each year, usually October or November, the starlings (essentially aliens, having been imported from Europe flock over the ornate $10,000,000 main capitol building, the beautiful education building, and the newly built $5,000,000 revenue building, cluttering the roofs, the eaves and the cornices with refuse.

This year, however, explained a capitol guard, the winter has been mild and the starlings (scientifically known as "sturnus vulgaris") have stayed away until now. But with the advent of colder weather, they began to look for warmer quarters.

Over 1,500 Books Donated Here

Local Residents Responding To Appeal In Victory Book Campaign

During the first two weeks of the nation-wide Victory Book Campaign approximately 1,500 books have been turned in at the Public Library by the people of New Castle in response to this drive for books for men in the Army, Navy and Marines, that is sponsored by the American Library Association, the American Red Cross and the United Service Organizations.

With the VBC directed by Althea Warren, on leave of absence from her post as librarian of the Los Angeles, Calif., public library, the VBC advisory committee is composed of representatives of nine national groups: American Merchant Marine Library, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Inc., Catholic Library Association, Girl Scouts, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, National Recreation Association, Special Libraries Association, and W. P. A. library defense service.

Each state has its own campaign director. Pennsylvania's is Horace M. Byrnes of the state library at Harrisburg, who has appointed Miss Alice Sterling, librarian of the New Castle Free Public Library, as director for New Castle and Lawrence County.

Books are being sorted now at the public library, where it is expected that the first shipment will soon go out.

Have you looked through your bookcases yet and decided which books you will give? Our county quota is 5,300 of the 10,000,000 that are wanted. For while

"Uncle Sam will give 'em tents
"And chow to be cooked by cooks,
It's up to us, who stay at home

Two Rhode Island Men Are Charged With Violations

Government Contends That Men Attempted To Evade Censorship Laws

(International News Service)

BOSTON Jan. 29.—In custody of F. B. I. agents, two Rhode Island men were brought into federal court Wednesday for a hearing on charges of evading and attempting to evade the censorship act.

Believed to be the first New England men to be charged with violation of the first war powers act passed on September 18, 1941, the men, Wilfred Richard Leubam 38, Oakland Beach, R. I., and Vincent Joseph Woodcock, 48, Providence, R. I., were turned over to F. B. I. agents by naval intelligence officers after they were anded from a naval vessel. They were brought to Boston from a foreign port in custody of a Marine Corps provost marshal.

One of the men, who were employed in construction of a United States operating base in a foreign port, was charged with conveying official and secret matters of the United States to persons here by use of a secret code. Officials, however, did not say which of the men sent the coded information to this country.

Public Is Urged To Save Its Scrap

Waste Materials Can Be Turned Into Money, Or Donated To Charities

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—Got any old rags?

Then save them, for your government needs them!

The same goes for waste paper, scrap metal and old rubber. A campaign to salvage these cast-off materials will soon get underway under the sponsorship of the state council of defense.

Acting at the request of the industrial conservation division of the new war production board, the state council has decided to ask the public either to sell the needed scrap and waste to collectors or donate them to charities, schools or other organizations, which in turn would sell them to dealers.

Salvage committees are to be appointed by the state and local defense councils to coordinate the campaign and to stimulate public participation.

Prohibition Is Advocated Again

Anti-Saloon League Advocates Measure To Raise Morale Of Armed Forces

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29.—Prohibition as a war-time measure to raise the morale of Uncle Sam's armed forces is being urged in a campaign by the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon league.

The state league suggested a presidential ban on liquor and beer sales in and around army camps and a government moratorium on manufacture of liquor to conserve foodstuffs used in its manufacture.

In addition, the anti-saloon group demanded government protection of the working man by "preventing the sale of all alcoholic beverages until the war is over."

SUFFICIENT EXCUSE

(International News Service)

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—An attorney for Pat Herndon, named defendant in a Cheyenne district court trial, found no difficulty in winning a continuance of the case when he explained his client's failure to appear in court. Judge Sam Thompson granted the continuance when counsel for the defense told him that when last heard from Herndon was on Wake Island.

But if little people must change their ways to win the war, what about big shots? Are they above changing?
